Weeds get in the way of big fish

Improved fishery possible for Lake Tranquillity, but solution would be costly according to state expert

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

Despite some fine-looking large-mouth bass in Tranquillity Lake, it is a fishery with problems. They can be corrected. However, any solution is expensive.

Vegetation cover is excessive. Density of the fish population is lower than what might be expected. Marginal depth conditions contribute to problems. Grass carp cannot be used.

This is the "stepping-off-the-boat" evaluation by Illinois Department of Natural Resources District 8 Fisheries Manager Joe Ferencak after a two-hour evaluation of Antioch's Lake Tranquillity around Pedersen Park June 26.

The Village of Antioch requested an evaluation of the lake to determine if weed problems identified by Heron Harbor residents were serious and affecting its quality.

"Weeds are right up to the surface," according to Heron Harbor Homeowners Association President Tom Evert. As a result, it is hard for residents to get their canoes and paddle boats through the water he said.

"Weeds hold the ecology of the lake," Evert said. "We want to preserve the natural area and be able to use it." These concerns led to the lake's evaluation by IDNR, its first since 1971, at the request of the village. Once the collected data is analyzed this winter, management recommendations will be submitted to the village.

Tranquillity Lake is a channel constructed in 1940 and 1941. It was known as Ackerman's Channel in its early history. Although some consider the lake to be independent of the chain, DNR considers it to be "a natural dug-out channel which does connect with Sequoit Creek and ultimately the Fox Chain and Lake Marie," said Ferencak. ## Fourth explodes with events

You can run in the 5K Run for Freedom at 8:30 a.m., but you can not hide from the "show stopper" fireworks at dusk by Melrose Pyrotechnics, Inc.

It is a small-town, Antioch-style July 4th celebration that includes something for just about everyone, according to Maureen Ryan of the Antioch Independence Day Committee.

"Antioch takes great pride in the parades, events, and community programs which it provides to its citizens and visitors during the course of the year," according to Ryan.

"The jewel of its crown still seems to be the festivities which revolve around the 4th of July," she reports.

The list of events covers a wide range of interests.

The parade starts at 10 a.m. after a Community Choir presentation. Parade participants should report to the Antioch Community High School parking lot at 9 a.m. The parade will end at Williams Park.

Fireworks will be launched from

Diziki, Koperski chosen as 1997 Antioch Queens

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

Antioch chose its new queens over the weekend. Julie Diziki was named 1997 Little Miss Antioch and Kacy Koperski was named 1997 Miss Antioch on June 28.

Julie Diziki, 7 1/2 years old, also got the evening's biggest laugh at the expense of emcee Claude LeMere, Antioch community development director.

Little Miss Antioch Julie Diziki was not intimidated by the splendidly dressed Claude LeMere in a brilliant white tuxedo with lapels edged in black trim, donated by BJ's Fashions for Men of Antioch. The emcee set her at ease before she was asked to tell the audience about her favorite toy. "Hi," said LeMere. "You look very pretty tonight." To which Diziki politely replied, "Thank you. You do too." It was the best laugh of the evening in one also filled with smiles, tears, and seriousness.

The three-hour ceremony presented past and present candidates in a series of events and speeches to give contestants the opportunity to demonstrate stage presence and grace under pressure.

Presenting themselves beneath the canopy of a rainbow, Little Miss candidates modeled playwear and party wear, answered questions, and kept their poise before a full Antioch Community High School auditorium. Their arrival, clothing descriptions, and personality profiles were announced by Ann Kakacek.

Miss Antioch contestants modeled business suits, evening wear, beach wear, and also provided comments, planned and spontaneous, for the audience.

Candidates for Little Miss Antioch included: Amber Feldkamp, Heather Bednar, Katie McCarty, Genelle Lengvenis, Karissa Kolle, Keeley Thode, Courtney Pierce, Kathryn Schmelzer, Mallory Sinkovec, Heather Poulos, Melissa Zeman, Michelle McCarty (named Miss Congeniality by the other candidates), Angela Mitchem, Carilyn Bruning, Jennifer Young, Anna Bruce, and Kellie Smouse (voted first runner-up). These candidates ranged in age from 6 to 8 years old.

Candidates for Miss Antioch included: Jamie Gollon (named Miss Friendly and Likable by the other candidates), Jennifer Hatacher, Lori Loef (voted first runner-up), Court-

Don DeVoight of DeVoight House Movers, Inc., prepares to move the home of Scott and Malena Schroeder from its original foundation to a new one a few blocks away in the Fairfax Landing subdivision in Lindenhurst.—Photo by Sandy Bressner

House moves away, but the people stay

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

"We've demolished houses before, but never actually physically moved one. So, this is new," said Antioch's general home construction contractor Mary Mihovilovich.

She was having a home at the end of a cul-de-sac moved from its foundation to another hole in the ground that her husband, Jim, at that very moment, was digging a few blocks away.

"We contracted the movers to actually physically move the house over. We'll dig the foundation there, set this house on, put the house back together, sell that house, and then we're going to build them a new house right here on this lot," she said.

Today, apparently, it is somewhat simple to shuffle homes around. It is an option people consider doing when they find great neighbors and schools, but need a new home for their changing family.

To move a standard home these days, it takes one ex-school teacher, two sons, 10 to 15 days, and between $12,000 and $16,000.

Don DeVoight and sons, Jason and David, prepared the home in Lindenhurst for its ride over to Waterford Drive, a few thousand feet away, more or less. His business is in Valders, Wis., but he also moves homes in Illinois and Michigan.

"It's a good idea to have them moved rather than put in a landfill," DeVoight said. "The problem nowadays is so many get torn down and hauled to the landfill."

For people who love their location, a house move, with a newly constructed home on the resulting empty lot, is one way to remain with the same schools and neighbors.

"We just have such beautiful neighbors. We'll never find this again," said homeowner Scott Schroeder as he watched his home of several years float above his cellar on steel I-beams.

"A lot of people live by their neighbors and never even talk to them," said Malena Schroeder. "They don't even know them. And here, the kids play together and we know each other. There's a lot of support... It has just a real sense of community."

Builders Mary and Jim Mihovilovich were prepared to take on this different assignment. They build six homes a year and focus on assembling a team of high quality subcontractors to do many parts of the construction process. Highly personalized contracting service such as this assignment is not difficult for them to accommodate.

"We have a tremendous amount of wonderful subs and they are the backbone. We general [contractor] it. My husband does all the electrical. We hire plumbers and carpenters," she said.

Although they have worked in the Antioch area for eight years together, Jim Mihovilovich has been building homes much longer. He "started out building his first home when he was 18 years old," Mary said. "He built his first one and sold it. Built another one and sold it." Now they are looking to build homes as far away as Lake Forest.

Her experience is extensive too. She worked previously for a general contractor, a development company, a title company, and a large sewer and water firm. "I got all the plans out, got the contractors together, worked on-site, scheduled the subcontractors. Basically what I do here," she said.

"I love this job. But, it's got a lot of headaches that go along with it. You live and breathe it every day," she explained.

DeVoight also got into his home moving business very early in life, although he took a six year detour to teach bookkeeping, typing, and drivers education starting in 1969. "I was 19," he said, when I moved "the first one we did, 32 years ago."

In college he had bought a home and hired a company to move it for him. It took them a year. It only did get moved, finally, because DeVoight got involved himself and hired different people to work with him.

"I was a school teacher and I did this during my summers," he recalled. Once he received his permanent teaching license, "I went into this full time."

After DeVoight moves the house and minor repairs, if any, are completed, the Schroeders will live in it while a new home is built for them by Jim and Mary Mihovilovich.

WEEDS: Hinder big fish

er, reports that the surface level does not drop when the water of the Chain O' Lakes is dropped 18 inches for the winter. A connection between the water bodies would affect the types of management practices that could be used in Tranquillity Lake to improve conditions.

"Vegetation is excessive," said Ferencak. Major weed species include Asian milfoil, coontail, and curly-leaf pond weed. "There is also some sego pond weed as well," he said.

Excessive weed cover affects a well-balanced fishery. "It provides too much cover protection for your smaller fish, and, therefore, it inhibits your larger predators, in this case large mouth bass, from feeding effectively on them," he explained. The result can be over-population of stunted bluegill sunfish, a condition the morning's data seemed to suggest.

"I expected to collect more fish than we did." The characteristics of the fish population suggested a recent winter kill, since depth is also shallow in the lake. "We only got a maximum depth of 9.5 feet and probably the average, based on my soundings, is about 3.25 feet. Up in the northern part of Illinois here, we recommend that 25 percent of the depth be 10 feet or deeper."

Evert expects that the Heron Harbor Homeowners Association would work with the Village of Antioch to implement recommendations from the conclusions of the final study. "This is a great piece of land for the village," he noted. "This is a great amenity for the village." He thinks that the fishing in Lake Tranquillity is good and could be better.

"Aeration is definitely warranted to minimize or prevent winter kill by supplementing dissolved oxygen... during the winter months," said Ferencak. "That would be number one priority."

"Second would be the aquatic vegetation control program," Ferencak said, "then they can consider some sort of stocking program in terms of bass."

Management procedures will be expensive, Ferencak pointed out. Herbicides, mechanical harvesting, and grass carp are ways to manage these types of problems, although grass carp use in this case would be illegal he said. "The stocking of grass carp would be out of the question," he said because of their potential to enter the ecosystem of the Chain.

Fish found in the survey included: large mouth bass, bluegill, black crappie, and pumpkinseed, a type of sunfish. Several very large carp were removed and not returned to the water after the survey. Carp have a negative effect on lake ecology.

QUEENS: Selected for 1997

ney Johnson, and Sara Cashmore.

Miss Antioch Kacy Koperski loves pizza and the singing group The Cranberries. Her favorite television show is General Hospital. A lily is her favorite flower, and she likes the color green. She told the audience that she leaves for college in two months and expects eventually to study obstetrics. She looks forward to "working with people on an everyday basis and helping them with their problems." The pageant helps her gain people skills she says. "That is why I plan on furthering my education in both knowledge and in my ability to interact with others."

Little Miss Julie Diziki has a brother named Joey and a sister named Jennifer. She also has two birds, Larry and Wally. She will be a second-grader at Antioch Lower Grade School in the fall. She would like to be a teacher so she could show students that learning is fun. Her favorite toy is a trampoline. "I like it very much. My parents bought it two years ago around Easter time," she told the audience.

Former Little Miss Antioch Mary Cashmore and Miss Antioch Lisa Dusak participated in pageant presentations.

Miss Antioch for 1996 Dusak spoke of her past year's work as an Antioch ambassador. "In the past year, I truly have learned what it means to experience Antioch," she said. "From the smiling faces of the children lining the streets at Antioch's seasonal parades to the sense of fulfillment I gained after building a home (with others) that will house a homeless family. This year has left me with many fulfilling opportunities."

Of her work, she added, "I could not have asked for a better year. Thank you Antioch for giving me the opportunity to be Miss Antioch and add this chapter to my life."

a new location this year. "This location will provide excellent viewing from both Williams Park and Centennial Park," Ryan reported.

"Melrose has provided the displays for the City of Chicago, Navy Pier, and the Chicago White Sox," she reveals. They also have done them for "the Chicago Bears, the Chicago Bulls, as well as the Democratic National Convention."

"The sky concert planned for the village this year promises to be a truly exceptional experience," according to Ryan.

A kid's fun fair starts at Williams Park around 11 a.m. with athletic contests, games, and swimming.

During the day there are on-going events such as the old fashioned quilting bee at the historical society grounds, an apple-pie contest at noon, and pinocle and bridge at the Antioch Senior Center.

There will be sports tournaments all day at Williams Park. These will include co-ed softball tournament, basketball 3-Point shoot out contest, co-ed volleyball tournament, and a horseshoe tournament.

Food will be sold from 10 a.m. through the day. Expected foods include hot dogs, hamburgers, Italian sausage, pizza, popcorn, lemonade, and drinks, including beer.

Father Ray Sulejman (right) and son, Mike, have built a new restaurant on Route 173 west of downtown Antioch. Both will work at the new Chain-O'-Lakes restaurant which will feature a continental cuisine as well as pastries and bread cooked there.

Family builds new restaurant

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

The Chain-O-Lakes Restaurant, constructed by the same family members who will cook the food, will open for business on or near the July 4th weekend.

The restaurant will feature a continental cuisine, and "we are going to do our own baking," says Mike Sulejman. He and his Dad will also do the cooking. They expect to feature pastries and bread from their own kitchen. The menu will have a little bit of everything, American-style.

The restaurant is a very family oriented restaurant.

Sulejman and wife Luiza own the restaurant. "Me, my dad, and my cousin—we did the work ourselves," he says. The new building is where the Evergreen Restaurant used to be located on Route 173 west of Antioch.

Sulejman comes from a long life in the restaurant business. The family ties extend beyond those of his immediate relatives.

"This is the first restaurant for me," Sulejman said, but he has many years' experience in the business with his father-in-law's Three Brothers Restaurant, in Woodstock. He worked there for 10 years with Kim Alimi. Sulejman was a chef. "I did everything," he said of the experience. "That's where I actually mastered running a restaurant." He has spent much of his previous life in the restaurant business also. "Since I was 10 or 13 years old, I've been working in restaurants."

He built his restaurant in Antioch because "I love this area." He said, "I love the lakes and boating."

He expects to open near the July 4th weekend. It will be a completely new building seating 55 to 70 people. They will serve three meals a day.

ACHS Cheerleaders hold clinic/camp

Registration is open through July 12. The cost for the camp is $30, which includes lunch. Register before July 7 and receive a Cheer T-shirt. (some will be available for purchase the day of camp).

Here's how to live in a small town

Do you know how to live in a small town?

Reporting about events in Antioch brings me into virtually immediate contact with the notion of small town community life and how wonderful it is. People remark that they like Antioch because of the people here and their friendliness. People who live here want to preserve its small town character and atmosphere. People move to Antioch to raise children and to live out lives in what they believe to be a quintessential small town in America.

But who tells you how to live in a small town? Where do you learn? What is there to know about it?

July 4th in Gorham, Maine, sometime in the early '50s is the small-town, community image I carry within me. Soon thereafter, small towns disappeared from my life. I never did learn how to live in a small community.

I married a woman from a community so small that it had a two-room school house. When I was in college, I studied sociology and my specialization was the study of communities and how they are organized. I have spent my life wanting to live in a small community, and it took me four decades to figure out that I never will be able to.

People buy a home in a small community's subdivision and it looks to me like they feel a part of that village. So far, I do not see that. Buying a house, to me, just means you have bought the location.

OUR TOWN

There are some guidelines and rules for living in a small town. I have not figured them all out. Some of these guidelines may come from a now forgotten column by a rural psychologist named Dr. Val Farmer. He writes for the Illinois Agri-News, which I read each week. Nonetheless, if you are going to live in a small community, you need to learn how. These are some ideas about it.

I think you need to volunteer to do stuff. It may be at a school, a church, or for a community or service organization. I suspect you should take a leadership role occasionally. It is not enough to be financially generous to those who do volunteer.

I think you need to shop with local merchants first. If your guide is cheap prices, then you will destroy the small town economy. It may take you several years, maybe a decade or two, but you will destroy it. This is not to say that local merchants deserve to be given a free pass. You need to improve them through your patronage. It should be all right to accept a local merchant in a co-operative. It seems to me reasonable to demand of them to change and improve. Big box shopping centers will destroy the community you love.

I think long-time residents need to mentor the following generations. For one thing, long time residents need to confront their fear of what is going on around them. For another thing, younger generations need to learn what lies ahead. I suspect it is the fears of the older generations that drive young people away from their home town.

A small town and a sense of community is an emotional place. The idea that it has a physical shape or appearance is not one that I believe to be worthwhile. True, people may live here because they find it meets their tourist vision of the appearance of a small community, their hometown. But that is not who or what I am thinking about here.

I've seen several things that suggest to me that Antioch is the community everyone talks about. I have seen a lot that tells me that singer Iris Dement was correct about "Our Town" in her song of that name.

Do you know how to live in a small town? Buying your house was the cheap part of the deal.

If you have interesting information or anecdotes to submit for "Our Town" call staff reporter Ken Patchen at 223-8161, ext. 131 or e-mail, edit@lnd.com.

Cooperation, flex-judge ease county's large court workload

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

"We try the most cases and we dispose of them faster than any other counties," says Chief Circuit Judge Raymond J. McKoski. That is the good news.

McKoski then went on to describe the Lake County Court workload undertaken by 10 Circuit Judges and 21 Associate Judges. The workload is the sad news.

McKoski spoke to the Antioch Rotary Club at a recent regular Thursday noon luncheon at Hoff's Columbia Bay on Route 59.

In Lake County there are 6,400 cases per judge. This is higher than the 5,900 cases per judge in Cook County and the statewide average of 5,000 per judge. Many of these cases are traffic offense cases.

A second example of court workload is revealed by prison drug offender statistics. The number of people convicted of drug possession or sale in Illinois has changed dramatically from January, 1985 to January, 1995. McKoski says in 1985 there were 681 people convicted and in 1995 that number was 8,415. "These are accurate numbers," he said and are based on head counts by the department of corrections. These are "people convicted of drug possession or drug delivery. In Illinois, they go to the penitentiary."

One reason for the increase in drug conviction numbers is that "there is a lot more serious penalties for drug sale or possession than there were in 1985. People that used to get probation in 1985 are winding up with two years in the penitentiary now," said McKoski.

A third example of Law Division workload is large jury trials, relatively big civil cases greater than $50,000. "These are the most significant category of civil lawsuit that there is," McKoski explained. In 1996, there were 90 jury trials in Lake County, the highest number in Illinois except for Cook County. In DuPage County there were 84. Will County had 55, and Kane County had 62.

"We try the most cases, and we dispose of them faster than any other counties," said McKoski. "From filing to jury decision on cases involving $50,000 or more, it took 21 months in Lake County." It took 30 months in Will or Kane Counties, 30 months in McHenry, and 48 months in Cook County.

He cites two reasons for the faster case disposal in Lake County despite the higher workload. One reason is the concept of a flex-judge, and another is the cooperative effort by judges to handle the workload among themselves. A flex-judge is "a back-up judge that is always ready to step in if one of these four judges has more cases in a week that need a trial" than can be handled by the available judges. Plus, McKoski said, "judges in Lake County, as opposed to some counties, really work in a cooperative effort."

State lawmakers want summit on Waterway

Agency's administrative assistant appointed interim exec. director

By JEFF PATERSON
Staff Reporter

In light of recent strife concerning the Fox Waterway Agency, state Senator Adeline Geo-Karis has called for a July 10 summit meeting with the organization's board of directors.

"There has been so much controversy in the papers," said Geo-Karis (R-Zion). "The publicity has been devastating."

"We want to encourage the board to have orderly meetings, treat each other with compassion and get the job done," she continued.

The meeting is to be held at 9 a.m. at the Antioch Village Hall. Among those also invited to attend are state Senator Dick Klemm (R-McHenry County) and state Representatives Robert Churchill (R-Antioch) and Mark Beaubien (R-Wauconda), as well as members of the public.

"My colleagues and I hope to help resolve some of the problems so that the people in the Chain O' Lakes area can benefit from the good work that the agency has done and will continue to do," Geo-Karis said.

In recent weeks, the problems to which Geo-Karis referred have centered on the May 8 resignation of agency Executive Director Karen Kabbes and the May 31 arrest of Dredging Operations Field Supervisor Roy Gundelach on a charge of operating a boat under the influence of alcohol.

Both incidents have revealed splits on the agency's board. In the case of Kabbes, a majority of four of six directors voted to suspend the out-going executive director with pay rather than have her continue serving the agency until June 30. With Gundelach, the board elected to assign him restricted duty rather than to suspend or dismiss its employee hired on April 24.

On both decisions, the board's majority had differed sharply with its chairman, Dr. William Dam, who has suggested that, in the future, the state appoint the agency's board.

Senator Bill Peterson agreed with Geo-Karis that something had to be done to resolve problems within the agency.

"It's obvious that this disharmony among the board members and some of the other problems related to the new Executive Director has curtailed the effectiveness of the agency," said Peterson in a press release issued jointly with Geo-Karis.

"It doesn't surprise me in the least," said County Council Representative Judy Martini (R-Antioch) of the call for the meeting from state representatives.

"I think it's good that legislators let the board know how they feel because the future of the agency affects not only people on the Chain O' Lakes, but tourism throughout Illinois," she said. "It's not a one-district issue."

Martini, who is also vice-chairwoman of the agency's advisory committee, said that public concern over the agency had grown out of "knee-jerk reactions and some bad decisions" by its board and that "now it's time for damage control."

For his part, Chairman Dam indicated confidence that the agency's worst days were already behind it.

"I think that all the 'issues' are no longer issues," Dam said. "The ink may not be dry, but all of the solutions are in place."

As evidence of the agency's improving fortunes, Dam noted the work done by the Illinois Department of Natural Resources' engineer Anthony Mazurek in aiding the Waterway with water testing and needed letters of authorization.

Acknowledging past friction on the board, Dam maintained that it would be minimized in the future.

"The process must take precedence over personalities," he said.

As a further step toward improving operations at the agency while it seeks candidates to replace Kabbes, the board appointed Administrative Assistant and Public Information Coordinator Linda Ryckman as acting interim executive director at its June 26 meeting.

Ryckman, who has been employed by the agency for approximately 18 months, said that she "didn't anticipate any problems with day to day operations" until a permanent replacement is found.

"Everyone knows what they have to do and they do it," Ryckman said, adding that the staff goes about its work "pretty independently."

Advertisements for a new executive director have begun running in a number of daily newspapers and all applications are to be submitted by July 14. To satisfy state law, the new executive director "must, at a minimum, have graduated from a four-year college or university (or the equivalent) in civil engineering, biology, or public administration, or a closely-related field."

In the meantime, Geo-Karis indicated hope that the July 10 meeting will be the end of the continuing disagreements and accompanying bad press.

"We want to put this thing to rest so the agency can have clear sailing," she said.

The joys of summer

Some sure signs that summer has arrived: School buses no longer snarl the morning commute. Garage sale signs now hold the place on the side of our highways that political candidate campaign signs once adorned.

School teachers are seen wearing big smiles, moms are seen looking forlorn and harried. The scent of freshly cut grass permeates the air. The stench of freshly mowed over dog doo doo, blows in the breeze.

Winter clothes hold a prominent spot in local clothing stores, while summer clothes sit in the back on some clearance rack.

There is the familiar sound of banging porch doors as kids run in for a snack. There is the sink full of dirty cups they leave in their midst. The sounds from the playground: the crack of a bat, the argument at homeplate—was he "safe" or "out." The sound of hay fever suffers sneezing, the sound of asthmatics wheezing.

The piercing sting from jumbo jet-sized mosquitoes. The aroma of bug spray, the snapping of your neighbors bug zapper. Lightening bugs. The constant line of traffic at the corners of Grass Lake Road and Rte. 59.

The convoy of weekend boaters that descend upon our tranquil lakes. The garbage that washes up on our beaches every Monday morning that those boaters leave behind. Straw-like hair from chlorinated pools, orange hair from chlorinated pools. Swimmer's ear from the lakes.

The serenade of an ice cream truck. Flannel sheets and electric blankets make way for cotton sheets and light weight blankets. Off with the comforters and on with the bedspreads.

Grills hold the space in the garage where the snowblower rested all winter. Snowmobile trailers replace boat trailers in backyards and driveways. Storm windows come down, screens go up.

The Fireman's Annual Pancake Breakfast. St. Peter's Annual Rummage Sale.

Ants in the kitchen, popsicles in the freezer. Family reunions. Sweat. My little five year old saying to her dear old mom who loves to hang clothes out on the line to dry instead of using the dryer. "It must be summer, my underpants are stiff." Guess I had better use more fabric softener.

Local youth ball players get help from White Sox

Last week I was able to attend the White Sox Training Center while it made its visit to Lake Zurich. This baseball clinic offered some of the best fundamental baseball basics that I have seen in a long time—with 11 campers and two coaches, for a player-to-coach ratio of nearly 5:1.

The camp offered a very laid-back environment which did not put the kids in pressure-packed situations, but allowed them to follow instruction and even get some solid one-on-one instruction. The campers included ten boys and one girl—yes, even girls can learn fundamentals at the Sox Training Centers. After talking with the coaches and the players, I found that one thing was emphasized more than anything else: have fun. The coach mentioned this in nearly every drill, and the kids said that the experience was fun, before they mentioned that they learned a lot.

One player, Kristina Van Zuiden, 11, of Lake Zurich, said that she would encourage other girls to attend camps like this one, because "it's a lot of fun. They (the boys and the coaches) treat you just like anyone else."

Zuiden said that many girls think instructional camps, although mainly attended by boys, are strictly geared for them. She was pleased to note that these camps are as much for girls as they are for boys, and that she learned a lot during the five-day camp.

The camp did not have the players playing specifically for one position, nor did they scrimmage in practice games. Rather, the players were drilled in game-type situations that every player at every position can find helpful. Each ballplayer was shown how to improve their batting stance, swing and overall presence at the plate, and at the end of the day the campers were split up into teams and played a game of "homerun derby," bringing together all the hitting and fielding skills they learned during the day.

A number of the campers received certificates of achievement, which will qualify them to compare their skills to those of White Sox campers all over the Midwest, with the finalists competing in Comisky Park. The hit, run and throw competition is a spin-off of the punt, pass and kick competition that the NFL has made so successful.

These camps are very helpful to the kids who have the opportunity to join them, and for the youth baseball and softball players out there who did not participate in the camp, I highly suggest that you sign up today with this camp, or any others like it.

The White Sox Training Centers offer instruction to boys and girls between the ages of 7-14, and offers camps for beginners, more experienced players, serious high school players and fastpitch softball. The Training Centers will appear back in Lake Zurich July 7-11, Wauconda July 21-25, Warren Township July 28-August 1, and Libertyville August 11-15. For more information, call (630) 752-9225.

Antioch Waves keep cool in the pool

By BRENDAN O'NEILL
Sports Editor

The Antioch Waves swim team had a record-setting day in the 9-10 age group. Although the Wave lost their first meet of the year against Oswego 236-373, the 9 and 10-year-olds broke four pool records.

The 200-meter medley relay team of Kaitlyn Ament, Lindsey Kelly, Eliora Jares and Catherine Eschbach finished in a time of 3:31.51. The same four girls competed in the 200-meter free relay and posted a record time of 3:13.99.

Ament won the 100 individual medley with a time of 1:53.52, and Kelly took the 50 backstroke and 50 butterfly in times of 53.35 and 52.95, respectively.

The Waves faced McHenry and Geneva last week, and will travel to Round Lake July 15th for their next meet. The Antioch Tidal Waves, for ages eight and under, competed last Saturday at their first ever Tidal Wave Meet in Antioch.

Boaters get a break on the waves

kind, offering boat hops to serve hungry customers out on the Chain*

By SPENCER SCHEIN
Staff Reporter

Go anywhere in the world and you are more than likely to find a McDonald's Restaurant. However, if you want to find a McDonald's that offers service to boaters, there is only one place to go — and that is Fox Lake.

The northeastern Lake County community is home to one of only two McDonald's built on the shoreline of a waterway, and the only one that provides the same convenience to boaters that it offers to customers who take their cars, pickup trucks and mini-vans through the drive-through window.

The Fox Lake McDonald's Boat Hop is set up just like an old car hop, popular in the 1950s and 1960s. The girls who operate the Boat Hop are affectionately called "boat hoppers."

Just like their counterparts of yesteryear, the employees wear cute outfits of skirts, red aprons and white tops with the words "Boat Hop" and a little pier near a shoulder. (New red tops are on order for this season.)

Stacy Whiteman, 21, of Pistakee Island, is the "Boat Hop Queen" and is in charge of the Boat Hoppers, who work on weekends from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m., from the first week in June through Labor Day, weather permitting.

"If it is raining outside, we are not having a boat hop outside," said Pat Olsen, community relations representative of the McDonald's of McHenry County.

Up to 20 boats can dock at the McDonald's piers, located off Pistakee Lake on Hidden Cove directly behind the Fox Waterway Agency. The Boat Hoppers walk out to each boat, take the orders and come back with steaming bags and boxes of Big Macs, Quarter Pounders with Cheese, and Happy Meals for the little ones.

"They place their order just like inside the restaurant," Olsen said. The only difference is, they receive service without having to leave their vessel, which Olsen believes many people appreciate.

"They are outside people," she said. "They like to sit outside. They do not care if it is 100 degrees outside."

A couple hundred boats can come by on a good Saturday, said Whiteman, who has worked at the restaurant for six years.

The Boat Hop was offered last year for the first time as a way to appease the customers.

Several people wanted to know if the owners could place an order outside just like drivers do.

"Isn't there a box we can speak to," Olsen recalls hearing from several people. "That was not feasible," she said, so they went to the next best thing, which seems to be a big hit with everyone.

"It is full all the time," Whiteman said. "A lot of the time we are taking three or four orders at a time, so we are keeping busy."

The idea was to keep the lines inside down and moving faster, while still serving everyone, Whiteman said. In the past, the boaters would dock their boats and send one person in with an order for eight people and then need help

Children explore biomechanics at Robot Zoo

Ever wonder how a chameleon changes color or what propels a giant squid? Visit the Milwaukee County Zoo and Ameritech's Mechanics of Nature exhibit, now through Sept. 14, to discover the magic of nature.

Ameritech's Mechanics of Nature is a special traveling exhibit designed to illustrate real-life animal characteristics, such as how a bat uses sonar, a giraffe swallows and a fly walks on a ceiling.

This interactive exhibit features The Robot Zoo sponsored by Silicon Graphics, Inc. and Time Magazine. This 5,000-square foot exhibit was designed for children to explore the biomechanics of complex animal robots to discover how real animals work.

The larger-than-life size animated robots include a chameleon, a rhinoceros, a giant squid with 18-foot tentacles and a platypus. Also featured is a house fly with a 10-foot wingspread, a grasshopper, a bat and a giraffe whose head and neck is nine feet tall.

Machinery in the robot animals simulates the body parts of their real-life counterparts.

In the robot animals, muscles become pistons, intestines become filtering pipes and brains become computers.

Ameritech's Mechanics of Nature also features 14 fun and educational interactive activities. Sensory activities include "Swat the Fly," a test of visitors' reaction time, and "Sticky Feet," where visitors wearing special hand and knee pads can try to stick like flies to a sloped surface. Triggering the "Tongue Gun" demonstrates how a real chameleon shoots out its long sticky-tipped tongue to reel in a meal.

The zoo hours are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Saturday and until 6 p.m. on Sundays and holidays. Admission is $7.50 for adults, $6.50 for senior citizens (60 and older) and $5.50 for children 3 to 12 years old. Parking is $5.

For additional information call (414)256-5412.

BOATERS: Get a break with boathops

carrying it out, Olsen said.

"This gives them faster service," she said.

It also allows people to stay on their boats with their valuables, dogs and children they may not want to bring inside. "We thought we could be a benefit to them that way," Olsen said.

The restaurant is also fulfilling a need for hungry families who boat on the weekends, Olsen said.

"Most of the people have children on their boat and they do not want to take them to a bar for lunch," she said.

Customers with families agree they like the convenience.

"Where else can you get a cold shake on the water? It's inexpensive and easy to get in and out. Plus it's great if you have a boat full of kids," said Bruce Johnson of Bloomington. At the present time, the restaurant only has two boat hoppers, but that will double later in the summer when the boat activity kicks up for the season.

Among the happiest customers around are ducks who always seem to paddle over to McDonald's when they see people, Olsen said.

"Our ducks are hand raised on fries," she said.

At times 10 to 100 ducks can be seen chomping on fries thrown by McDonald's customers. "A lot of people order an extra bag of fries just for the ducks," Olsen said.

"What do the ducks like to eat" is among the common questions Whiteman hears from customers out for a good time.

The only other McDonald's Restaurant built on water is in Florida, and Olsen and Whiteman both said they do not think they offer the same service as in Fox Lake.

"As far as I know, we are the only McDonald's that offers boat hops," Whiteman said.

Once boaters receive their orders, they can enjoy their lunch on their vessels, on the grass nearby the docks, in a little brown shelter owned by McDonald's or while going on their way elsewhere on the Chain-o-Lakes.

If the boaters dine on site, McDonald's provides many trash receptacles for their use to keep the waterways clean from pollution.

The Fox Lake McDonald's, located at 40 S. Route 12, is one of 13 McDonald's owned by Sam Hutchinson of McHenry.

The musical is known for its melodic, humorous and at times sentimental songs, including such hit tunes as "Try to Remember" and "Soon It's Gonna Rain." A playful variation of the Romeo and Juliet theme, "The Fantasticks," is a sentimental musical for all ages.

'Nunsense'

"Nunsense," presented by Marriott's Lincolnshire Theatre, will run through Aug. 17. When Sister Julia, Child of God, prepares a tainted batch of vichyssoise, sending 54 of the 59 Little Sisters to meet their Maker, it is up to the five surviving sisters (spared by a fortuitously scheduled bingo game) to bury their dearly departed. The sisters put on a show to raise the needed funds, but not without more than a few complications.

Performances are Wednesdays at 2 and 8 p.m., Thursdays and Fridays at 8 p.m.; Saturdays at 5 and 8:30 p.m.; Sundays at 2:30 and 7 p.m.

Tickets to all performances are $33, senior citizens and students receive a $10 discount on all Wednesday perfor-

Hey, George—pass the cherry bombs

Hey, George—pass me the cherry bombs! If they took away our fireworks on the Fourth of July, what would we have, besides a lot of unhappy roadside vendors?

Not much. Because although the Fourth of July marks our "Independence Day" as a country, not many of us spend the day waving a flag and singing "God Bless America." And absolutely no one I know sits in their backyard singing the "Star Spangled Banner" because, let's face it, our national anthem is just too hard to sing unless your name is Whitney Houston or you've gotten your shorts caught in the wringer of the washing machine.

No, sir—when it comes to the Fourth of July, we have to have our fireworks. And, by the way, we Americans prefer our fireworks, like our TV sets, BIG. (In America, size counts.)

Of course, after years of watching fireworks and Sylvester Stallone action films, it's difficult to be impressed by anything short of an atomic explosion. Yet, in towns large and small, across America, we continue to gather together each Fourth of July, just as the sun goes down, parents and children seated on blankets in the grass, waiting for the fireworks to begin and thinking patriotic thoughts like, "Just how do mosquitoes always find that 1/4-inch spot on your head that you forgot to spray with insect repellent?"

And even though we've seen these displays over and over again, our reactions remain the same. A hush falls over the crowd, and all that can be heard between the loud "kabooms" is a united chorus of appreciative moans for each firework that lights up the sky: "Oooh. Aaah. Oh. Yes! Ooh, Aaaaaah." (Maybe that's where they get the soundtrack for those X-rated movies. Not that I've ever seen one, of course.)

Afterward, when the last firework has finally sputtered out, we return to our homes with an itch in our scalp and a warm, patriotic feeling in our hearts.

The question is...why? What the heck is so patriotic about fireworks?

Since I am not a history major (or a history minor, either), I don't know the answer for sure. But considering their importance to us, I have to assume that fireworks must have been a part of our forefathers' very first celebration of our independence. In other words, the original Fourth of July probably went something like this:

Founding Father 1: Okay, John—put your name right there, and we'll be finished.

Founding Father 2: I'm Tom.

Founding Father 1: Sorry.

Where's John?

Founding Father 2: I think he's out back behind the shed.

Founding Father 1: Figures—too much wine again. Oh—there he is. Hurry up, John—sign this, and then we'll be officially independent. They wait for John to finish signing.

Founding Father 3: There. You've got my John Hancock. The Declaration of Independence is signed and complete. Now what should we do? For some reason, I just don't feel independent yet.

Founding Father 1: Me, neither. Hey, George—do you still have those cherry bombs?

Founding Father 4: I cannot tell a lie. I do.

Founding Father 1: Great! Let's light a few behind Paul Revere's barn. Last time we did that, he rode through town screaming, "The British are coming! The British are coming!" Ha, ha, ha!

Founding Father 2: But he was right—the British were coming.

Founding Father 1: See how well that joke turned out?

Founding Father 4: But what if someone asks me later who did that? You know that I cannot tell a lie.

Founding Father 1: Well, you better learn, George. After all—you're going to be President.

And that's how it all started. Ba da BOOM!

Tips on cultivating the ever popular tomato

Originally from the Andes Mountains the tomato is the most popular home-grown vegetable. Some members of its family are poisonous, therefore the tomato was considered unsafe to eat for a long time. From South America tomatoes were sent to Europe where they were popular long before they were accepted in the United States. Thomas Jefferson grew tomatoes and tried to convince people that they were delicious, but tomatoes did not gain popularity until the 1840s.

Tomato varieties are either determinate or indeterminate. In a determinate or bush variety, terminal buds set fruit and the stem is self stopping. These varieties require little or no support, and harvest time is generally short with most of the fruit ripening at the same time. Indeterminate or climbing tomato's leaves, and more stems, grow from the growing tip, growing indefinitely. The blossoms and fruit develop progressively, so harvest continues over a long period of time. Indeterminate plants need support and pruning.

Most tomatoes should be pruned for best results. Indeterminate varieties may be grown on multiple or single stems. In the multiple stem method, the first sucker (leafy shoot at the stem junction) below the first flower cluster is allowed to grow and develop into the second main shoot. All other suckers are removed. When growing a single stem plant, all suckers are removed. After mid-July suckers may be left on the plants to help shade fruit and prevent sunscald. The single stem method is recommended when plants are spaced closely.

Tomatoes can be supported in a number of ways staking, wire cages or trellising. I've tried a string type trellis support by an overhead wire. Two strings are tied at the base of the plant and secured to the wire to form a V. The new growth is trained around the string. If you stake, drive four to six foot stakes, one foot in the ground, four to five inches from the base of the plant. When the plant reaches the stake, tie cloth to the stake and attach to plant by tying loosely in figure eight fashion. Cages are more expensive, but allow plants to grow more naturally, with much less work.

Tomatoes can be prone to a number of diseases and pests. Rotating crops cuts down on soil borne diseases, it is best to leave a one year interval before planting tomatoes in the same spot. There are many hybrid varieties that have been bred for resistance to fusarium wilt, nematodes, tobacco mosaic, or verticillium. Another thing, if you smoke, wash hands thoroughly with soap and water before handling tomatoes as you can spread tobacco mosaic. Remember the skim milk and water bath (one part milk to nine parts water) to control aphids. I hand-pick tomato horn worms.

Pick tomatoes when they are ripe (nice and red) for optimum flavor. Read information from seed or plant sources to learn size and color expected at harvest time. Two plants per adult and one per child will ensure a sufficient crop for household use, and you will probably have some for preserving for winter.

Some of my favorite varieties are Celebrity, it produces large fruit and performs very well. The ever popular Better Boy hybrid, which produces large, flavorful fruit throughout the summer. I love Supersweet 100, a cherry variety. They live up to their name! This year I am growing a virtually seedless variety Prudens Purple, and an old fashioned variety called Brandywine.

Until next time, peace.

Exchanging currency abroad

by JIM WARNKEN, PRESIDENT
NORTH STAR TRAVEL, INC.

For Europeans, where countries are as close together as states are here, exchanging currency is common for even short trips. However, since Wisconsin accepts the same money we use in Illinois, a trip to Europe may be our first encounter with foreign currency.

As soon as you arrive in a foreign country you will most likely have to start paying in that country's currency. All international airports will have currency exchange counters. Exchange only enough funds for the first day's expenses, since you will probably get a better rate at a bank in your city.

You can, however, avoid this additional delay upon your arrival, by purchasing a small amount of foreign currency before you travel. Your local bank, should be able to supply you with most foreign currency, but allow them a couple of weeks to get it.

By purchasing your currency ahead of time you also have time to get used to it. Take time to translate the various denominations into U.S. dollars.

Carl Malden has told us enough about the security advantages of travelers checks. There is, however, an additional advantage when you exchange them for foreign currency. Quite often you will get a better exchange rate for travelers checks than for hard cash. I have also found that you can exchange American Express Travelers for foreign currency at their overseas offices for no service fees.

Exchange rates are much better in large cities than more remote areas. Like anything else, prices are lower where there is more competition.

Exchange only the amount of cash you think you will need. Any excess that must be converted back to U.S. dollars will involve another service fee. On the other hand, you usually pay a flat fee every time you exchange money, so you want to keep these transactions to a minimum.

By the way, if you are planning a trip to Mexico, as well as most of the Caribbean Islands, don't worry about exchanging money. Your U.S. dollar will be cheerfully accepted.

'Pretty Woman' goes to a Wedding'

Thank goodness that the Hollywood powers that be saw fit to plunk a breath of fresh air right smack dab in the middle of all their summer action thrillers.

The feel good romantic comedy, "My Best Friend's Wedding," reunites film audiences with the Julia Roberts' "Pretty Woman" type character that made her a star.

In this case her best friend is a past romantic interest with whom she had made a pact to marry if both are still single at 28. It's only when Dermot Mulroney announces that he has met someone, Cameron Diaz, that Julia realizes she's really in love with him, so she heads to Chicago to stop the wedding.

The movie is full of inconsistencies like how come Mulroney waits so long to invite his "best friend." There are a lot of good Chicago scenes, some that are supposed to be happening elsewhere, but no matter, it's all a lot of fun and us Chi-kids won't tell.

This film is well written and just as well directed by P. J. Hogan of "Muriel's Wedding," so well done in fact that we are happy with an ending we didn't expect because we end up wishing both gals could get the man!

A surprise scene stealer in this heavy company is Rupert Everett, who plays Julia's gay editor whom she uses to make Mulroney jealous.

There's a karaoke and sing-along scene that's a smash.

We give this PG-13 flick 4.5 stars out of five because it sent us out of the theater smiling and humming for a change! Here's a date movie to end all date movies!—By Gloria Davis

What happens when what's natural doesn't work?

Dear Dr. Singer, We have gone to great lengths to deal with our children's behavior. We have read everything and also seen professionals and have really gotten nowhere on this. My main question involves natural consequences. We have heard this and read about this over and over again and have tried to use it, but have really found ourselves very limited with this. Are we just missing the boat or do you believe natural consequences work? Pooped Parents in Palatine.

Dear Pooped,

I have some definite opinions about natural consequences and will comment on them here, however, I would first like to suggest that it sounds like you could really use my behavior program. It works very quickly to help ingrained problem behavior and it sounds like that's what you're dealing with. It's very different than most out there. Call me about it, if you want more information.

For the last decade or so, there has been a lot of advice given about natural consequences or logical consequences. These are consequences that apply logically or naturally to the situation. For example, the logical or natural consequence of breaking your toy is that you don't get to play with that toy anymore. Many people believe these to be the only consequences that work. I disagree wholeheartedly based on the fact that natural consequences are not always effective and cannot always be waited for or risked.

For example, the natural consequence of running in the street is getting hit by a car. Now, anyone in his or her right mind knows that this is ridiculous. No parent is going to risk their child getting hit by a car for the purpose of learning not to run in the street. What about the child who wants to touch the hot stove? Are we going to let the child do this, based on the fact that it's a natural consequence to get burned, when we touch a hot stove? Of course not! Any responsible parent will try very hard not to have their child do this, or even come close.

Let's look at one that isn't so crisis-oriented. What about the child who is always late in the morning. This is the child who won't get out of bed when you ask. You need to be at work at a certain time and every morning is the same battle. You yell, you scream, you rant, you rave and still the child resists. Now, what is the natural consequence for this? If you went by the letter of natural consequences, it would be that the child would have to get him or herself to school. There are several problems with this view! First, most kids I know would relish the thought of a parent leaving without them. In their minds, they can stay home and watch their favorite shows. Who needs school anyway? Right? I've talked to kids who feel this way. The other problem with this is a safety issue. If you leave your child to walk to school, alone, depending on your neighborhood, it can be a safety problem. I know many parents who battle with their children to get going because they do not want the child walking alone! In this situation, the natural consequences do not seem to work. The only one who seems to be getting consequence is the parent.

PARENT'S PLACE

Sherri Singer,

So, once you've thought about the natural consequence to a behavior and cannot find one that fits in a safe and consistent way, what are you left with? Many people out there will tell you that if it's not "natural consequences" there will be no learning for the child. Again, I say, "hogwash!" Consequences, whether logical, natural or not, work if you use them consistently and you mean business! My feeling is that there are several things that make consequences work. First, you have to know what is meaningful to the child. This is the most natural and logical thing I can think of, when it comes to consequences.

What is going to affect this child? What means something to him or her? If it means something, it will get through! Second, consequences need to be appropriate. They need to make sense. Beating on your child teaches nothing but violence. Teaching them that bad decisions lose them things that are meaningful to them, makes sense. This is something that they need to learn for later life too. All of us live in an adult world where good decisions are rewarded and bad ones are punished. Additionally, many times as adults we lose things when we aren't responsible. "You snooze...you lose." Right? With our example of our child who won't get up on time, who is it that's being consequence? The parent is the person who is feeling the brunt of the consequence. The parent gets bent out of shape and has to be late to work. This is the only natural consequence that comes out of this situation. Our children need to be ready for the real world and if they don't learn it at home, where are they going to learn it?

So, when natural or logical consequences don't fit, make sure you use some consequence. If you're not sure of what works, ask your child. Children tell me what works with them, more than any other source. Ask them what they own that they like. You can also ask what activities they like the best. Make sure to ask these questions when you're not in the heat of battle with them. At a calm and cool time, interview your child and find out what will work. Remember, though, finding out what works and then not using it, does nothing for anyone. Don't feel bad doing this! You aren't being sneaky. You aren't being nasty. You're simply being methodical about finding out and using what will work quickly and effectively. This way is better for your child and you.

Consequences don't need to necessarily be natural. If they're thought out ahead of time, methodically decided on and then implemented without hesitation, they will work. If your child has to sit in time out after school as long as each minute he was late that morning, he'll think about being on time next time. Natural? Definitely not! Does it work? Every time I've seen it used, it sure does! I can guarantee you that your child will do everything in his or her power to get you to back off of your decision. Don't get shaken by this. If your consequence is appropriate but firm, you aren't doing anything wrong. You're teaching your child what is acceptable and unacceptable for now and for later life as well. After all, isn't this a parent's job?

Best of luck with this and remember to call me if you would like to try and clean up the behavior once and for all.

HOROSCOPE

Aries - March 21/April 20
The beginning of the new month brings some peace to your life. You are more patient and better able to control your temper this week. Things go smoothly at work, giving you little to worry about. As for your personal life, it thrives. You meet someone who intrigues you, and you decide to make the first move.

Taurus - April 21/May 21
While you're usually the quiet type, Taurus, you've got a lot to say this week. You have some good ideas for work and talk to upper management about them. The higher-ups are very interested in what you have to say. Your love life moves into high gear at the end of the week.

Gemini - May 22/June 21
The early part of the week is extremely busy for you. However, instead of getting aggravated, you are invigorated. The fast pace is just what you need to get your blood flowing. A family member turns to you in a time of need. Don't let him or her down. Your opinions and advice will be listened to.

Cancer - June 22/July 22
Your homebody mentality is challenged this week. Not only do you have to travel for work early in the week, but you have a lot of running around to do for a family function that you are helping to plan. Don't get angry or upset. Your life will be quiet again soon. Gemini plays an important role.

Leo - July 23/August 23
The Fourth of July is a time for you to celebrate not only the country's independence, but yours also. You are no longer tied down by obligations. You feel confident at work, and you're now in charge of your personal life. You can do what you want without anyone telling you differently. Enjoy, because it's your time to roar!

Virgo - Aug 24/Sept 22
Your quick thinking solves a problem at work and gets you recognized by the higher-ups. So, stop being so critical of yourself. As for your family life, there's some criticism mixed in with compliments from loved ones. Don't get discouraged. Everyone really has your best interest at heart.

Libra - Sept 23/Oct 23
Your good nature is just what is needed at work this week, Libra. A conflict between co-workers puts you in the middle of a touchy situation. With your personality, you get everything back to normal in no time. That special someone finally makes a move. Don't hesitate; say yes. Leo plays a role.

Scorpio - Oct 24/Nov 22
Don't be possessive this week; it only will hurt your standing at work. Let a co-worker share in your glory after a difficult project is completed. It may not be what you want, but it will put you in good standing with a superior. A loved one shares a secret with you. Keep it to yourself.

Sagittarius - Nov 23/Dec 21
Be blunt when it comes to a problem at work early in the week. Beating around the bush only will make the situation worse. A family gathering puts you on edge. Try to relax; you're not the only one who's uptight. Capricorn plays an important role.

Capricorn - Dec 22/Jan 20
Don't let your desire to get ahead drive you to make a hasty decision at work in the middle of the week. Remember, slow and steady wins the race. When it comes to your love life, you move into the fast lane. That intriguing stranger you keep running into asks you out. Now's your chance to see what he or she is like.

Aquarius - Jan 21/Feb 18
You're certainly full of surprises this week, Aquarius. When your superiors at work think all is lost with a big account, your idea saves the day. They're grateful and will remember your efforts in the future. As for family, you shock everyone with a heartwarming evening later in the week. They're impressed.

Pisces - Feb 19/March 20
You're full of ambition this week — even though it's unlike you. Everything goes well at work and at home, making you realize how much you really can have if you just go after it. Your newfound drive lets you ask out that person you've had your eye on.

CRITIC'S CHOICE

Marriott's 'Nunsense' — fun, sense-filled winner

Producer Kary Walker And company, at the Marriott Lincolnshire Theatre have gone all out to make sure that the theme of its current musical production, "Nunsense," is carried out completely.

For just a few moments, when we saw that the set of "Kismet" had not been struck, we actually wondered if we had come a week early.

The ushers and those religious strolling through the audience also had an authentic look, but when five of Marriott's top musical actors jumped into the spotlight, when realized this was all in fun and we were in for an evening of laugh filled entertainment.

Supposedly the "Sisters of Ap-takistic" are putting on the evening's show to raise funds to bury some of their brethren killed by a culinary mistake made by the order's cook, Sr. Julia, Child of God.

The laughs come fast a furiously in the same religious vein as they do in "Do Black Patent Leather Shoes Reflect Up."

Again the script is filled with uproarious moments, but anyone who is a veteran of the Catholic school system will appreciate the "clicker" and lots more with a little extra relish.

Sister Mary Regina, the order's reverend mother, played by Marriott's top award-winning actress, Alene Robertson, is at her queenly best as she belts more than a few songs the appreciative audience's way. She brings the house down when the good sister imbibes a few too many Jack Daniel's chocolates.

Chicago theater community's veteran Paula Scrofano has never been as creative as she is with the role of Sister Mary Amnesia who steals the show with her singing hand puppet and her country song "I Could've Gone to Nashville," reminiscent of Miss Mona in her "Best Whorehouse in Texas" role.

Kelli Cramer's roles seem to get bigger and better at Marriott, and the part of the raucous Sister Mary Robert Anne is her best to date, especially in "I Want to be a Star."

Kathy Taylor as Sister Mary Hubert and Pam Harden as Sister Mary Leo complete the stellar cast with their great renditions of "Tackle that Temptation with a Time Step," and "Soup's On - The Dying Nun Ballet."

This is a simple plot, one that has been pleasing audiences as one of the longest running off-Broadway musicals, right up there with "The Fantastics."

Marriott has brought out its biggest and most talented guns for this one as audience's standing ovation attested to.—By Gloria Davis

Under expert medical supervision, members and patients will achieve personal health and fitness objectives through preventive education, fitness training, and rehabilitation. ## Highland Park Hospital previews fitness center

Highland Park Hospital has plans for a new 61,000 square foot medically based health and fitness center located on a 5-acre site in Buffalo Grove. The Center is scheduled to open this winter.

Construction has begun for the Highland Park Hospital Health and Fitness Center,™ which was unanimously approved by the City of Buffalo Grove in February. The two-story Center is located at the Corporate Grove Business Park on the southwest corner of Busch Parkway and Milwaukee Ave.

"Our objectives for the Highland Park Hospital Health and Fitness Center are twofold," explains Ronald Spaeth, president and chief executive officer at Highland Park Hospital.

"First, the Center helps complete the continuum of health care services we offer the communities we serve. In addition to our diagnostic and treatment capabilities, the Health and Fitness Center emphasizes preventive and rehabilitative services. Second, it (the Center) represents our continued efforts to improve accessibility of care by bringing services to the residents of the Buffalo Grove area, many of whom currently use Highland Park Hospital."

As a medically based Center, the Highland Park Hospital Health and Fitness Center will integrate wellness and rehabilitative and fitness programs. Space was designed for a variety of activities such as community education, health screenings, physician offices, rehabilitation equipment, and fitness programs. Specific features include a six-lane lap pool, gymnasium, aerobics and stretching rooms, walk/jog track, and the most advanced equipment available for exercise and physical therapy. Other special amenities include a pro shop, a nursery and children's area, a two-story entry atrium, and a health cafe.

Medical research has proven the benefits of regular exercise on adult longevity and vitality as well as on employee productivity and morale," concludes Spaeth. "We, at Highland Park Hospital, feel good about the role the new Health and Fitness Center can play to support people in achieving a healthy life style and in improving their overall health."

The Highland Park Hospital Health and Fitness Center is owned by the Buffalo Grove Fitness Center Limited Partnership and managed by Power Hospital Fitness Group. Membership will be available on an individual, couple and family basis. In addition, membership packages for corporations and seniors will be also offered. Details on membership packages and prices will be announced at a later date.

For more information, call 925-1482.

Hot weather safety tips to beat the heat

As temperatures climb into the 90s the American Red Cross reminds people to take additional precautions to avoid weather-related emergencies such as heat cramps, heat exhaustion and heat stroke.

To avoid heat related emergencies the Red Cross advises people to:

- Slow down and avoid strenuous outdoor activity
- Stay indoors as much as possible
- Wear lightweight, light-colored clothing
- Drink plenty of water
- Eat small meals and eat more often than usual
- Avoid foods high in protein, which increase metabolic heat
- Avoid using table salt tablets unless directed by a physician
- Avoid alcoholic and caffeinated beverages

Look for the following signs in determining the difference among heat cramps, heat exhaustion and heat stroke:

Heat cramps are painful muscle spasms which usually occur in the legs and abdomen and are often the first signals that the body is having trouble adjusting to the heat.

Heat exhaustion is a more severe condition that commonly affects athletes, fire fighters, construction workers and others who wear heavy clothing or work in a hot, humid environment.

Signs of heat exhaustion include cool, moist, pale or flushed skin, headaches, nausea, dizziness, weakness and exhaustion.

Heat stroke is the most severe heat emergency. It most often occurs

Healthcare conference to feature public forum with C. Everett Koop

As healthcare costs continue to escalate, do patients experience a diminished level of care?

Has the shift to an economically driven managed care system changed the patient-physician relationship?

What is the impact of this shift on the poor or minorities?

Is the increased cost of terminal illness leading to a new openness to physician-assisted suicide?

Doctors, lawyers, ethicists, educators, and clergy will come together at an international conference, "The Changing Face of Healthcare," on July 17 to 19 on the Deerfield, campus of Trinity International University to contend with the ethical dilemmas arising from such issues as managed care and resource allocation.

One of the speakers will be former United States Surgeon General C. Everett Koop. Koop is the Elizabeth DeCamp McInerney Professor of Surgery at Dartmouth Medical School and the author of more than 230 books and articles on medical practice, surgery, bioethics and health policy. He received an Emmy in 1991 in the News and Documentary category for the five-part series on healthcare reform," C. Everett Koop, MD.

Other speakers include Edmund Pellegrino, professor of medicine and medical ethics, director of the Center for Clinical Bioethics, and senior research scholar of the Kennedy Institute of Ethics at Georgetown University; Arthur Dyke, professor of population ethics at the Harvard University School of Public Health; Harold O.J. Brown, Forman Professor of Christian ethics and theology at Trinity International University; and Nigel M. de. Cameron, distinguished professor of theology and culture at Trinity International University and board chair of the Center for Bioethics and Human Dignity, a sponsor of the event.

"This conference will explore ways in which the health care system can provide all patients with the healthcare they need without overburdening those providing the care," says Center director John Kilner, professor of bioethics and contemporary culture at Trinity Evangelical Divinity School.

The conference, co-sponsored by Trinity Evangelical Divinity School, Christian Medical and Dental Society, Christian Legal Society, and Nurses Christian Fellowship, is the fourth annual conference on topics related to bioethics—the emerging field of medical ethics.

The conferences have sparked international interest by bringing together leaders in the fields of medicine, ethics, law, public policy, and religion.

Last year's conference, "The Christian Stake in Genetics," featured Francis Collins, director of the Human Genome Project; former White House aide Charles Colson; and bioethicists John Kilner and Nigel De. Cameron.

The conference tackled the ethical implications of genetic research and cloning—months before a successfully cloned sheep was unveiled in Scotland. Both Kilner and Cameron were interviewed by national and international media as the cloning story made headlines.

The 1995 conference, "The Christian Stake in Dignity and Dying," featured a public debate on physician-assisted suicide between Geoffrey Fieger, attorney and spokesman for Jack Kevorkian, and Edmund Pellegrino of Georgetown University Medical School.

The Center for Bioethics and Human Dignity is located on the campus of Trinity International University, which, with its campuses in Deerfield, and South Florida, comprises the College of Arts and Sciences; Trinity Graduate School; and Trinity Evangelical Divinity School, one of the largest seminaries in the world.

HEAT: Temperatures are climbing, take precautions

When people ignore the signals of heat exhaustion. Heat stroke develops when the body systems are overwhelmed by heat and begin to stop functioning. The signals of heat stroke include red, hot, dry skin; changes in consciousness; rapid, weak pulse; and rapid, shallow breathing.

Heat-related illnesses, in their early stages, can usually be reversed. To care for heat-related emergencies:

- Get the victim out of the heat.
- Loosen tight clothing.
- Remove perspiration-soaked clothing.
- Apply cool, wet cloths to the skin.

- If the victim is conscious, give cool water to drink.

- Call an ambulance if the victim refuses water, vomits or starts to lose consciousness.

The American Red Cross offers a brochure on how to respond to heat emergencies.

For more information on obtaining the brochure, contact your local Red Cross chapter or call (312) 440-2021.

The American Red Cross operates around the clock, every day of the year, providing community disaster preparedness and relief, health and safety education, international tracing and emergency services to military families.

Perfect wedding day begins with proper planning

When it comes to their wedding, the bride and groom want everything to be perfect. From the ceremony to the reception, they consider all the details, and while this makes for a beautiful wedding day, it also causes months, and maybe even years, of stress.

The best way for a couple to remain calm while planning the big day is to get organized. By making a list of things they need to do, they can allot time in their schedules for each task—and they can feel a sense of accomplishment and relief each time they cross something off the list.

This basic checklist can get them started on their way to a beautiful wedding day.

- Set the date—As soon as possible after getting engaged, the couple should select a wedding date and decide on the type of wedding they would like to have. From a traditional ceremony in a church to a surprise wedding, where guests are invited to a "party" that turns out to be a wedding, couples are personalizing the event and planning weddings that reflect their lifestyles and interests.

- Reserve a location—The couple should reserve the church or location of the ceremony soon after setting the date to ensure they can get married on the day they want. Then, they need to reserve a reception location. Party houses and halls specialize in party business and feature catering directors who will assist a couple in planning their dream wedding. Hotel receptions are becoming increasingly popular, and hotels also have catering directors on staff. Independent caterers are a good choice for home weddings or garden receptions.

- Select a photographer—Every photographer has different style and a different way of covering weddings. The couple should choose one who will accommodate their wishes, like taking the types and number of shots they want, attending both the ceremony and reception, and offering the album design they would like. The most important quality of a photographer is his or her personality. The couple will be spending an entire day with this person, so they should choose someone who will make them feel comfortable.

- Book reception entertainment—The couple should select a disc jockey or band that will cater to everyone at the reception—both the younger and older generations. The musical selections should be diverse, and requests from the guests should be taken.

- Arrange wedding transportation—Whether it's a Rolls Royce, stretch limo, horse and buggy, or double-decker bus, the couple should plan for transportation to and from the ceremony and to the reception for themselves and their attendants. They should make reservations early, especially if they want a white car.

- Order dresses—Shopping for a wedding dress, headpiece and bridesmaid dresses is one of the most fun parts of the planning for the future bride. She should choose a wedding dress that reflects her style and personality—and makes her look beautiful. When considering dresses for her attendants, the bride-to-be should opt for a style that complements her dress, as well as the girls in her party.

- Choose a florist—Flowers can add an elegant touch to the wedding day, and every florist has a unique style. The couple should select one whose arrangements they like and who offers them helpful, creative ideas about bouquets, corsages and centerpieces.

All eyes are on the bride and groom during their special day. Proper planning ensures a perfect wedding day. —Photo submitted by Crane's Picture Perfect, Inc.

PERFECT: Plan the wedding of your dreams

• Decide on a bakery—The couple should select a bakery based on the flavor of the cakes baked there and the look of previous work. They should ask for a taste of the different types of cake offered, and they should see if the bakery will be able to create the design that they want.

• Select formal wear—Whether it's a basic tuxedo or a top hat and tail coat, formal wear completes the look of the wedding party. The couple should select a formal-wear provider who offers the style they want, has a variety of sizes available to fit all of the men standing up, and offers a large selection of bow ties and cummerbunds or vests.

• Order invitations—Invitations come in many different styles, so the bride and groom will have a number of books to look through. They should decide on a style that best suits their wedding, based on its formality, the time of day and the wedding colors. The stationery professional can help them with this decision.

With these important decisions made, the future bride and groom only have a few things left to do, like selecting favors, writing a wedding bulletin and buying thank-you gifts for their attendants. They're well on their way to the wedding of their dreams.

Several reminders to ensure a 'happily-ever after' marriage

Your wedding day is a perfect time to be reminded of these special factors that can help ensure "happily-ever afters." Modern Bride's Barbara S. Smalley offers a few dos and don'ts that many happy husbands and wives practice daily:

1. Maintain your friendship—In a recent study, 300 couples who'd been happily married for 15 years or more were asked to share the number one reason for their marital success. Both men and women said, "My spouse is my best friend." Keeping this friendship strong can be difficult when both partners work and quality time together must be scheduled.

However, time together should be a priority. Learn to say no to social invitations that will take too much time away from being together. Time together does not have to be filled with nonstop activity. Friendships thrive on time spent doing nothing more than talking.

2. Remain Intimate—Intimacy is not necessarily synonymous with sexuality. Over the years, you will re-create the wild attractions you felt when the relationship was new, but your ability to remain intimate will become the foundation for your marriage.

The rules for maintaining intimacy and friendship are identical. To be intimate, couples must make spending time together a top priority. Letting your spouse know your deepest feelings, hopes, thoughts, and fears and having your spouse respond with respect and love can mean the difference between a rocky relationship and a rock-solid marriage.

3. Learn to compromise—When couples are willing to compromise, they send each other a powerful message: "I love you—let's work this problem out." Sometimes compromise means meeting half way. Sometimes it means deciding what's really important to you and making trade-offs. And, it always means communicating openly and honestly with each other.

Compromising won't work, however, unless both partners are willing to give and take. So, one key to compromising is to pick your battles carefully. When you can live with it, give in. Then, later, when something is really important to you, hopefully your partner will do the same for you.

4. Support each other—Remember your commitment to each other. It usually happens that when times are good, they're very good. When the bad times hit, there's a lot of blaming and complaining going on. Couples need to learn that all marriages have their ups and downs.

5. Have fun together—Consider the following scenario: You and your spouse have both had a hectic week. Now, it's Friday night, and both of you would love to rent a video and snuggle in front of the television. However, the apartment is a wreck, and two weeks' worth of laundry is waiting. How would you wind up spending your evening?

Couples with a highly successful marriage would choose the video over cleaning. Happily married people have a knack for finding ways to take care of domestic business and have fun at the same time.

Keeping your sense of humor in the worst and best of situations is also vital. Laughing is a great stress-buster, and feeling comfortable to be silly around each other is the ultimate binding device.

Ten steps for a successful shower

1. Guests—Consult with the wedding couple, their parents, the bridal party and other friends to ensure a complete guest list.

2. Time—Select the day and hour of your shower while you're clearing the guest list. Make sure the principal guests can attend.

3. Theme—Have a creative theme that will suite the couples' personality.

4. Location—Pick a location that will accommodate the number of potential guests and that will work with your theme.

5. Invitations—Invitations may be purchased or handmade. Mail them at least two weeks before the shower. Include all of the following: name of person(s) being honored, date, time, place (include directions), kind (theme), where the couple is registered, and name of the hosts.

6. Food—Plan a menu to go with your theme. Don't forget silverware, plates, glasses, etc.

7. Decorations—Choose decorations that will give your shower area a festive look.

8. Activities—Guests like to do things at the shower besides watch the bride open her gifts. Plan fun games that will follow the theme or have someone demonstrate a new craft.

9. Helpers—Contact guests you know well to help you run your shower smoothly.

10. Relax and enjoy!

Drug, gambling ring busted

Four charged; operating out of Lake Zurich eatery

By RHONDA HETRICK BURKE
Editor in Chief

The Metropolitan Enforcement Group (MEG) in cooperation with the Village of Lake Zurich has broken up a drug and gambling ring which was operating out of J.J. Twigs, a bar and eatery at 173 W. Main Street in Lake Zurich.

The arrests, June 24, cap off a more than eight-month investigation by MEG which began on a tip from Lake Zurich police in October of 1995.

Charged with misdemeanor gambling were: James L. Arden, 41, of 1270 Sterling in Palatine and Daniel Schwarzenhorn, 41, of 147 Robertson in Lake Zurich. Both were bartenders at the business. They were taken into custody and released from Lake County Jail after posting $5,000 bond each. Charged with possession of a controlled substance with the intent to deliver and unlawful delivery was Joseph D. Lopez, 42, of 183 W. Main

County Board to bus tour, view zoning changes

Committee reviews long-awaited draft of new zoning ordinances

By RHONDA HETRICK BURKE
Editor in Chief

Lake County's zoning ordinances may soon make more sense to all residents, under proposed revisions which will tighten county control and lessen the wait time for routine variances.

Lake County Board members will hop a bus for a zoning tour next Monday to examine examples of areas on which the zoning will be redesignated or clarified under the county's pending Unified Development Ordinance (UDO).

nance (UDO).

The Lake County Planning, Building and Zoning Committee got a preview of what's to come with a briefing by the consultant firm of James Duncan and Associates, who is writing the new ordinance.

The UDO will change several classifications within the county's current ordinance and is designed to make zoning easier to regulate by the county government and to give the county board more control over planning for the future. The project has been in the works for nearly 18 months.

"This is an exercise in patience,"

Jeff Shook,
founder Illinois Center

submitted entry forms currently running in all 13 Lakeland Newspapers publications to play a round of golf with current International Hockey League goal-scoring champ Steve Maltais and left-winger Tim Breslin of the Chicago Wolves. The contest is part of the First Annual Lakeland Newspapers Lake County Charity Golf Outing which will raise money for the Illinois Center for Youth Advocacy (ICYA).

The ICYA is a non-profit legal and social services organization dedicated to improving the lives of Chicagoland children through education and representation.

"Many children are abused and ignored in Lake County and we are trying to make a difference," said Jeffrey Shook, ICYA founder and lifetime Round Lake resident.

"Not only will the money made at the event be very helpful in our fight against child abuse and for a new computer center in the Round Lake area, but the awareness that such a large event brings to our cause is wonderful," said Shook.

Shook is an attorney who decided to do something for the young people in Lake County, which led him to founding the ICYA in January of 1997.

Bristol Faire Sketch artist Freyer dies

Artist Ellida Sutton Freyer was one of the original artisans who helped found the Bristol Renaissance Faire more than 20 years ago. She passed away at the age of 86 in California.

Bristol Renaissance Faire artisans and visitors will miss Ladye Ellida and her castle. A popular portrait and sketch artist, Ellida Sutton Freyer, 86, died in Berkeley, Calif., where she spent the last two winters.

Freyer was one of the original artisans who started the Renaissance Faire in a Gurnee farm field some 20 years ago, sketching adults and children, horses, dogs and other pets. She returned regularly throughout the years of King Richard's Faire and, more recently, Bristol Faire in Kenosha Co., Wisc., befriending decades of young actors, musicians and visitors. She also participated regularly at the Gold Coast and Hyde Park art fairs and many others.

This remarkable lady began studying at the Art Institute of Chicago in 1916 and was a life member. Starting at age 6, since her mother could not accompany her, she traveled alone on Chicago street cars from Lawrence Ave. on the north side, down Clark St. and across the loop to Michigan Ave.

Freyer met her husband during World War II while sketching at the former Riccardo's Restaurant on Chicago's Rush St., where she painted one of her early murals. A more recent mural can be seen at Cedars of Lebanon restaurant near her home in Hyde Park. She also was listed in the National Directory of Portrait Artists.

Freyer was preceded in death by her husband, parents and two brothers. She is survived by two sons, one daughter, and two grand daughters.

Lake County residents may also remember her brother, the late Clarence Sutton, who penned a whimsical column, "Mostly Clarence," in Lakeland Newspapers for 15 years. His widow now writes "Partly Ruth" about history of Fox Lake and the Chain of Lakes.

BUSTED: Gambling, drug ring broken up in Lake Zurich

Street in Lake Zurich. He was released after posting a $100,000 cash bond.

Charged with felony drug possession and delivery of cocaine, both class X felonies, was Michael T. Hayes, 40, of 672 Cleo Court in Palatine. Hayes consented to a search of his residence June 25, following his arrest. During the search, officers found 15 ounces of cocaine and $125,983 in U.S. Currency. Hayes was released from Lake County Jail after posting $150,000 bond the following day.

"We were glad to see this investigation concluded without injury to anyone," said Fred Clauser, Lake Zurich police chief. "We don't tolerate drug deals of any kind in our town."

Lake Zurich provided two uniformed officers to assist with the arrest at J. J. Twigs. "The arrests were very quiet," Clauser said. "I doubt most patrons of the restaurant even knew what had happened."

The four suspects were processed at Lake Zurich and transported to the Lake County Jail.

According to Clauser, the two bartenders were gambling on sporting events. Lake Zurich was the catalyst in the investigation providing information to MEG on Oct. 25, 1995 of unlawful activities. MEG then began an investigation and assigned it an active case number after gathering sufficient evidence approximately eight months ago.

J. J. Twigs liquor license will now be reviewed by Lake Zurich Mayor James Kruschke after he receives a complete report of the investigation from MEG.

"This was a pretty extensive investigation," said Bill Dial, acting director of MEG. "The investigation is continuing and it is likely there will be further charges."

Dial said the gambling operation was very extensive with betting on events such as the Superbowl and U.S. Open. "Every time we were in there over the past eight months gambling was going on," Dial said.

The arrest took place June 24, at 8:15 p.m. at J. J. Twigs.

Arden and Schwarzenhorn are facing up to a $1,000 fine and one year in prison if convicted of misdemeanor gambling.

Lopez, who according to Dial was employed as a manager at Twins Tap, next to J. J. Twigs, faces 6-30 years in prison if convicted.

Hayes, who works as a limo driver, also faces 6-30 years in prison if convicted. According to Dial, Hayes has been arrested three previous times for cocaine delivery and is under investigation by several other jurisdictions.

Cook County assisted with the search of Hayes' residence, which was about 1/2 mile from the Lake County line.

Lake Zurich is a participating agency in MEG, providing one officer to the force.

ZONING: Long-awaited ordinance slowly unveiled

said Pamela O. Newton, committee chair. "We need to review the format of the ordinance in an orderly way. The committee will have a busy summer."

The bus tour July 7, will be followed by a committee of the whole meeting of the county board July 21.

Most of the proposed designation changes will occur in the existing classifications of suburban and urban zoning. "The idea behind the unified development ordinance is to tighten existing zoning regulations," said Kirk Bishop, the consultant working on the plan with county planner Barry Hokanson and the staff.

Among the major revisions to zoning ordinance will be the inclusion of a planned unit development ordinance and a conditional use permit which will require petitioners to have a specific site plan approval before zoning is granted.

"One of the strongest elements of your existing zoning is the open space district," Bishop told the committee. "But it needs to be tied to another form of approval other than plat approval. Under your current regulations, you do not have enough latitude to apply criteria to specific situations."

"In the past, we have granted zoning without having regulation over the proposed construction on the parcel," Newton said. "And, the zoning classifications were broad enough that many uses were allowed in one zoning."

Under the proposed UDO, the suburban and urban zoning classifications are the ones which will receive the most significant changes. Currently these two zoning classifications including residential homes and commercial developments. Under the new zoning classifications the following are proposed: residential classifications 1-5; resort residential, general office, limited commercial, recreational commercial, general commercial and limited industrial.

Thus far the consultant firm has only presented draft changes on a portion of the chapters contained in the current zoning ordinance. Among the chapters yet to be presented are those dealing with natural resources and non-conforming uses, two areas which members of the county board have often had their most heated disagreements.

Those additional chapter reviews are expected by early August.

"I know we could spend at least one committee meeting on each of these subjects," said Al Westerman, committee member.

"The county board has emphasized the need for greater restrictions and protection of our natural resources," Newton told Bishop. "I think we need to incorporate the county board's mission statement into the plan as an overview."

Newton told the consultant that it wasn't enough to address natural resource preservation but the quality of natural resources must also be addressed.

"The quality is very important, and a tree survey will be required," said Newton. "We don't want a developer saving buckthorn trees but cutting down oaks."

Committee Vice-Chairman Carol Spielman clarified that the committee was looking for some "qualitative aspects to the natural resources regulations."

While chairman Newton cautioned the committee and the audience that the drafting of this ordinance is a slow and deliberate process, some county board members in the audience seemed to be less than satisfied with the presentation.

"Let me assure you that you'll all have time to speak at the committee of the whole meeting," Newton told them. "As a committee we will go through this ordinance chapter by chapter and address all of our concerns. We are not going to close the books on this until we are comfortable with it."

Public hearings on the proposed UDO are expected to begin in early fall.

GOLF: Outing benefits ICYA

help these children, but I just needed a way in which to do it," said Shook.

Due to the relative newness of the ICYA, Shook said that the organization is geared toward doing things that can get done, not focusing on enormous projects that never come to fruition.

Some of the things that the ICYA is working on include a computer center in Round Lake, a Youth Center in conjunction with the Boys and Girls Clubs of America, a gang prevention task force, and a counseling program for grandparents raising grandchildren.

Shook said that with all children have to deal with, the break down of the family unit makes it much more difficult.

"Kids don't have a voice. They don't earn money and they can't vote," said Shook. "We just want to give them that voice."

"This is our first fund raiser, and it is definitely bringing a lot of interest, both in the form of publicity and resources," said Shook about the golf outing. "This is really good for us."

When asked about monetary goals for the fund raiser, Shook said any amount would help and there is no specific goal.

"We just want to do whatever we can to help the kids," said Shook. "We want to expand our services and improve."

The event, which is open to the public, will be held at Renwood Country Club in Round Lake Beach and will cost $65 per golfer, with four-somes available for $200. Price includes 18 holes of golf, cart, continental breakfast provided by Jerry's Parkway, lunch provided by Subway Sandwiches, individual gift bags for each golfer, and the chance to win great prizes such as the use of an automobile for one year from Rockenbach with a hole-in-one on the 15th hole.

For more information about the golf outing, call Lakeland Newspapers at (847) 223-8161, ext. 112 or visit the Lakeland Newspapers website at www.lnd.com.

AT A GLANCE

A DIGEST OF STORIES MAKING HEADLINES THROUGHOUT OUR REGION

Dedication to honor Schmidt

Avon Township—Avon Township Youth Baseball (ATYB) organization will hold its annual Fourth of July parade beginning at 10 a.m. Friday, in the vicinity of Cedar Lake Road and Clarendon. There are approximately 70 parade entries this year. The parade will travel down Cedar Lake to Washington Street to Hainesville Road and end at the ATYB complex approximately 45 minutes later.

Following the parade the Pony League Field will be dedicated in honor of Ron Schmidt. Schmidt died last year in the midst of refereeing a soccer game in Libertyville. He was a supporter of ATYB for 30 years.

Following the dedication of the field the All Star Games will begin. Local dignitaries will be throwing out the first balls. Activities for the afternoon include games, a DJ and there will be a cookout.

Geo-Karis: Wants Waterway summit

Fox Lake—Citing a need to halt public controversy and administrative dissension at the Fox Waterway Agency, state Senator Adeline Geo-Karis (R-Zion) has called for a summit meeting between the agency's board of directors and state lawmakers.

The meeting is to be held at 9 a.m. at the Antioch Village Hall. Among those also invited to attend are state Senator Dick Klemm (R-McHenry County) and state Representatives Robert Churchill (R-Antioch) and Mark Beaubien (R-Wauconda), as well as members of the public.

"There has been so much controversy in the papers; the publicity has been devastating," said Geo-Karis, referring to the issues of the replacement of Karen Kabbes as executive director and the charging of agency employee Roy Gundelach with operation of a vessel while under the influence.

"We want to encourage the board to have orderly meetings, treat each other with compassion and get the job done," Geo-Karis said.

Dr. Seuss bandit strikes again

Deerfield—The Dr. Seuss bandit has struck again, this time making off with an undisclosed amount of money from a Deerfield bank.

At 12:10 p.m. on Friday, June 27, a man entered the LaSalle Bank, 40 N. Waukegan Rd., approached one of the tellers and demanded that the teller put money into a bag. The man displayed no gun but implied that he had one. The man matched the description of the man responsible for four other bank robberies in the past month.

Senior home proposed

Third Lake—A senior housing development may be built in Third Lake, near the intersection of Washington Street and Route 45.

According to Third Lake Mayor Karen McCluskey, the owner of the property, Lee Fry, has approached the village with a conceptual plan for a three story senior apartment building.

The proposed development would offer meals twice a day and would be designed for active seniors featuring one and two bedroom apartments including kitchens. The 17-acre parcel of property is located just north of Anchor Bank.

Station No. 3 opens

Lake Zurich—The Lake Zurich Fire/Rescue Department officially opened its newest fire district substation, located at 1075 Old McHenry Road in Lake Zurich. It marks the fire district's third station, with a fourth one possibly on the way in the near future.

Station No. 3, as it will be called, will serve residents living primarily in Hawthorn Woods and northern Lake Zurich. The response time has already been decreased from 8 to 10 minutes to two to three minutes. "Protection is a lot closer," said Deputy Fire Chief Dave Wheelock. "You're going to see drastic decreases in response times."

QUOTE OF THE WEEK

'A lot of people live by their neighbors and never even talk to them... You can't really put a price on that as a commodity.'

Malena Schroeder, Lindenhurst homeowner who moved her home to keep lot and build larger home on it

Family moves home, keeps lot

Lindenhurst—It finally happened. Some local residents love Lindenhurst living so much that their house moved away and they remained behind.

Although, the real truth is that the house also remained in Lindenhurst.

The reason Scott and Malena Schroeder stayed was because of the neighbors and the school district's quality. The reason the house stayed is because there was a nearby vacant lot, a builder willing to explore alternatives, and a house mover who thinks this solution should be more commonly used.

Today, apparently, it is somewhat simple to shuffle homes around. It is an option people consider doing when they find great neighbors and schools, but need a new home for their changing family.

To move a standard home these days, it takes one ex-school teacher, two sons, 10 to 15 days, and between $12,000 and $16,000. The home was moved Friday by Don DeVoght and his sons.

Rodeo survives protesters

Wauconda—Wauconda will become the rodeo capital of the world—at least for one weekend in July, when the 34th annual championship takes to the dirt at the Golden Oaks Equestrian Center, at Route 12 and Case Road between Route 120 and Route 176. Tickets for the Friday, July 11, and Sunday, July 13, shows are $10 for adults and $5 for children. Tickets for Saturday, July 12, are $12 for adults and $6 for children. Parking is $4 per car each day.

"Evidently, it is something the community wants because people keep coming," said Rosann Hansen, president of the Wauconda Chamber of Commerce. The rodeo has become breeding ground for animal rights protesters over the years and is likely to meet its fair share this year as well.

Residents seek Libertyville schools

Gurnee—The residents of Daybreak Farms subdivision, which lies on the border of Libertyville and Warren townships, are seeking to become a part of Libertyville schools.

The subdivision is in the River Road area of Warren and Libertyville townships and is bordered to the north by Route 120 and to the east by a Lake County Forest Preserve area. Daybreak Farms has 54 total lots with 26 lots full.

Woodland chief gains extension

Gages Lake—Woodland Dist. 50 board members insist that the vote to extend Dr. Dennis Conti's contract was taken in the course of normal operating procedures at this time of year.

Conti won his extension requested, but the vote was 4-3. Voting in favor: Betsy Awani, Catherine Osborne, Jerry Hinkley and Suzanne Gage.

Mike Mullinix, Margaret Breitzman and Alan Mann opposed.

Those opposing the contract extension said it tied the district to three years of Conti's services, to 2,000.

Domestic incident ends peacefully

Gurnee—Law enforcement officials from several agencies successfully brought to a safe conclusion a domestic situation which had the potential to spread violence.

The quiet of a summer Monday afternoon in the Gurnee Pembroke subdivision was upset by a few intense hours. A manhunt succeeded in the arrest of a man while he was on foot a few blocks from his Lawson Boulevard home.

Police were reviewing charges after Gregory Kemp, 47, was sent to St. Therese Medical Center for evaluation. Two handguns were found in the home at 1905 Lawson Blvd.

The neighborhood was sealed off from traffic in going and outgoing for three blocks around Lawson from noon until just past 4 p.m. Residents said police told them to stay in their homes.

Gurnee Deputy Chief Hank Schwarz said this was the first time the Northern Illinois Police Alarm System was used in Gurnee.

Dist. 79 proposes new impact fees

Mundelein—Fremont School District 79 board officials have undertaken revisions to the residential development impact fees charged developers.

According to Patricia Masterton, director of business for the district, "This formula has been calculated to compensate for the lag between the time a new home is completed and when property tax revenue is actually received." The time lag is approximately 18 months, she said.

Masterton told the board in a recent memorandum that the formula "also includes a clause that addresses the impact a development of 500 or more homes might generate."

The new formula proposed for board consideration seeks impact fee revenue for both operational costs and for physical plant costs, such as land and construction. The previous formula only addressed physical plant finance needs.

Fees were proposed at the June 23 board meeting for 2, 3, 4, and 5 bedroom homes. Proposed impact fees are: $893.69 (2 bedroom); $2,746.86 (3 bedroom); $4,260.10 (4 bedroom); and, $3,004.55 (5 bedroom). Additional fees for developments of greater than 500 homes will be directly negotiated with developers.

Lake County Fair 'At-large' Queen pageant set for July 13

The 1997 Lake County Fair "At-large" Queen Pageant will be held July 13 at the College of Lake County auditorium in Grayslake. Applications for the Miss, ages 16 to 21, the Junior Miss, ages 11 to 13, and the Little Miss, ages 6 to 8, are now available from the Fair office or by calling Pageant Director John Lynn at 566-6594. The entry deadline is 4 p.m. July 10. Only the first 20 applications in each age group will be accepted.

Several years ago the Lake County Fair Queen Committee declared that every eligible young lady in Lake County should have an opportunity to compete in the Lake County Fair Queen Pageants. They have also ruled that a contestant must have won a sanctioned preliminary Village Pageant in order to be a candidate for either of these titles. Since many Villages do not have a pageant, at the At-large Pageant was created to fulfill both those requirements.

The Lake County Fair Queen Committee produces the At-large Pageant using the same scoring procedures as the County Pageant. It is open to all eligible young ladies who live in unincorporated areas and villages that are not served by a Village Pageant. All At-large Queens will receive a crown, banner and $100 in cash. They will also receive Family Season Passes to the Kirk Players' 1997-98 Subscription Series Season and have their entry fee for the Lake County Fair Queen contest waived.

Among those villages not served by any local pageants are Lake Bluff, Lake Forest, Lincolnshire, Lake Zurich, Long Grove, Deerfield, Kildeer, Hawthorn Woods and the Lake County portions of Barrington and Buffalo Grove. In addition, 6 to 8 year old young ladies who live in Fox Lake-Ingleside, Green Oaks, Gurnee, North Chicago, the Round Lake Area and Zion are also eligible for the Little Miss At-large pageant. Young ladies 11 to 13 years old who live in Antioch, Fox Lake-Ingleside, Gurnee, Grayslake, Green Oaks, Lindenhurst, North Chicago area and Zion are also eligible for the Junior Miss contest.

Even though these villages have Queen Pageants for the older girls, their younger ladies are eligible.

The program has been very successful and has produced four Queens who subsequently became Lake Fair Queens, one of which went on to win first runner-up in the state. Current At-large Queens, Kaitlyn Williams, 8, of Gurnee, Kristin Anthony, 14, of Gurnee, and Natalie Nix, 21, of Ingleside will be on hand to crown their successors. The public is invited free of charge at 4 p.m.

Two faces spell conflict in 1998

Lake County voters have a split personality when it comes to preservation of open space. Electors profess enchantment with the county's rolling, rural atmosphere; they voted approval in 1993 of a huge public lands acquisition program. Yet they tend to support and vote into seats of municipal and county government, office holders who decidedly are pro-development.

Until voters made some significant County Board changes in leadership at the polls in 1996, county leaders remained impervious to charges that they were deliberately ignoring wishes of the electorate supporting a $30 million referendum for open space purchase and development of Forest Preserve property. The same leaders who effectively stonewalled the intent of the referendum earlier had dismantled a far-reaching land acquisition formulated by Forest Preserve officials in the late 1980s.

Now there are indications of a change in the position of officialdom that will bring action more in line with the apparent public mood favoring open space. Policy wonks are calling the prevailing air today a "swing of the political pendulum."

Indeed, the Forest Preserve Board's recent unanimous approval of a $54.4 million budget for fiscal 1997-98 emphasizing land acquisition and development could initiate an aggressive pace that was stalled for nearly a decade. Forest Preserve Executive Dir. Steve Messerli hailed the vote as putting land acquisition "first and foremost."

In revving up preservation efforts, Forest Preserve commissioners are putting themselves on a collision course with the leadership of the county's go-go villages whose leaders view county initiatives as counter to their individual growth and development plans. Take note Gurnee, Grayslake, Vernon Hills, Round Lake. In this scenario, county and village moguls often covet the same real estate.

The county has plenty of money left over from the 1993 referendum plus an on-going stream provided by swollen real estate taxes. More than a $1 million increase in real estate taxes alone was budgeted for the coming 12 months. With the Forest Preserve in a buying mood, trouble between the county and villages is abrew'n. Prospective clashes are sure to provide interesting dialogue for the 1998 County Board primary and general election when 15 seats will be up for election.

Sales tax race getting new No. 1

There's a good chance Waukegan will be toppled as Lake County's No. 1 retail center based on sales tax revenue before the year is up. Based on figures for 1996 provided by the Illinois Dept. of Revenue, Waukegan held a precarious lead over Gurnee $7.3 million to $7.13 million. Still pursuing auto agencies and with Home Depot, Dominick's, Planet Hollywood and Bass Pro Shops coming on line this year, Gurnee has budgeted for $8 million in sales tax revenue next year.

Vernon Hills with $6.03 million, ranking it fourth last year, could surpass Libertyville's third place $6.04. This is a real horse race, as both communities are adding big volume retailers this year.

What does all this mean? Among other things, with the exception of Waukegan, retail "haves" are continuing to widen the gap with the "have nots." Since the runners-up include some potent retail shopping hubs like Lake Zurich, Antioch and Highland Park, it's quickly apparent Lake County is a mighty retail machine. Will there be a tapering off of local retail expansion? Not likely, unless there is a national recession.

In Illinois, every municipality receives one percent of the state sales taxes generated within its borders. That's the answer to the question whether any community can ever have enough retail outlets.

Following are Forest Preserve commissioners who also serve as County Board members whose terms will be up in 1998:

Judy Martini, Bob Neal, Jim Stanczak, Diana O'Kelly, Audrey Nixon, Carol Calabresa, Pam Newton (four year terms); Al Westerman, Debra Halas, Sandy Cole, Angelo Kyle, Mary Beattie, David Stolman, Martha Marks and Bob Buhai (two-year terms).

VIEWPOINT

Second Lone Sailor due for Great Lakes

Artisans in Italy now are putting the finishing touches on the second rendition of the famed Lone Sailor statue destined for a home at the Recruit Training Command, Great Lakes Naval Training Center.

The original Lone Sailor statue is the centerpiece of the U.S. Navy Memorial in Washington, D.C., standing proudly as a representation of the millions of Navy men and women who have served in war and peace, especially enlisted sailors.

Ron Weeks, a kingpin in the Save Our Base movement that rescued Great Lakes from possible closure four years ago, is leading fund raising efforts to locate the statue at the Buckley Rd. entrance of RTC.

Weeks, a resident of Hawthorn Woods, said Navy leadership at the highest levels is supportive of establishing the second Lone Sailor statue at Great Lakes. "But we'll have to raise the necessary funds locally," stated Weeks seriously, a task set at $500,000.

The Lone Sailor at Great Lakes, inspiring thousands of recruits daily and visible to passersby, will be dedicated to the memory of the late Adm. Jeremy M. "Mike" Boorda, the Illinois native who rose from a recruit at Great Lakes in 1956 to the rank of admiral and position of Chief of Naval Operations.

Fund raising is being coordinated through the Chicago area Councils of the U.S. Navy League. The Fleet Reserve Assn. will be part of the effort and has committed to underwriting the presentation of an eight inch replica of the Long Sailor to the honor graduate of each recruit division. That's 52 replicas to be awarded annually.

"This is a wonderful project, one that will be an inspiration to Navy personnel as well as civilians," stated Weeks, head of an insurance brokerage firm. Weeks predicted that the Lone Sailor will become an instant Lake County

RUMOR RUMBLE

There's a story making the rounds of Lakehurst Shopping Center that Yankee managing partner and shipping magnet George Steinbrenner is going to take a look at rejuvenating the fading retail queen. Steinbrenner could light up the Lake County retail community in a heart beat. He'd put the roughnecks on the run in a hurry. We'll be watching developments. Promise.

CLARIFICATION

Reader Mitch Westra of Wauconda set along information to clarify a reference on this page identifying the American Staffordshire Terrier as a pit bull. Not so. Westra provided documentation that the American pit bull terrier is a distinct breed. Unscrupulous owners employ abusive training to produce fighting pit bulls. Raised properly, pit bulls can be companionable and gregarious. "Staffy's" are extremely gentle and affectionate.

ROLL UP YOUR SLEEVES

Schmidt considers precinct slot

Is County Board Rep. Suzi Schmidt (R-Lake Villa) serious about challenging House Minority Leader Bob Churchill (R-Lake Villa) for a precinct committee position? This clash would overshadow a lot of races next year.

Who's hot?

Grayslake and Gurnee are in a footrace to nail down an ice skating center. Promoters are talking about utilizing methane gas supplied by the Countryside Landfill to power an ice palace nearby on Rte. 83. Giltzy ice skating centers are hotter (cooler) now in the suburbs than multi-screen theaters.

Tough job

The recent heat wave served to punctuate explanations about electrical power shortages being given by area community relations manager Harlan Dam. Yes, brown outs are a possibility, Dam is relating, because demands are outpacing ComEd's ability to produce electricity. These days Dam has the toughest job around, even harder than Jerry Reinsdorf responding to the possible intentional breakup of the Chicago Bulls.

War of words

State Rep. Cal Skinner Jr. (R-Crystal Lake) and School Supt. Ron Erdman have cut loose in a battle of words over school funding.

Erdman, who serves in a dual capacity at Richmond-Burton High and Spring Grove Elementary, accused Skinner and fellow Republicans of a "do nothing" attitude and called for a vote for new representatives.

Skinner invited Erdman to try and replace State Rep. Ann Hughes (R-Woodstock). "Then we could have a real test as to whether a Republican candidate advocating a 25 percent state income tax increase can win a GOP primary in McHenry County."

Fore the GOP

The annual Lake County Republican Play Day kicks off July 9 at Midlane Country Club in Wadsworth. The annual golf outing has been expanded this year to get even more GOPers involved in a day of summer fun and good company. In addition to golf, attendees can participate in tennis, swimming and even a game of bridge. There will be two shot-gun golf starts at 7:30 a.m. and 1 p.m. and two golf formats—scramble and general. A cocktail reception follows at 6 p.m. with dinner at 7 p.m. For more information call 680-6680.

Money for base

Congressman John Porter (R-10th) was able to make a patriotic announcement on this holiday week, approval of $44.42 million for construction of housing and other projects at Great Lakes Naval Training Center by the House Appropriations Committee.

In addition to housing, a combat training pool will be constructed as well as two fire stations to serve the VA hospital and Naval Training Center.

Porter called the funding "vital to Great Lakes."

Making headway

Several County board members made cameo appearances at the planning and zoning committee meeting, Monday where the second draft of the new unified development ordinance was presented by the consultant. Sitting in the audience were: Martha Marks, Suzi Schmidt, Bonnie Thomson Carter, Stevenson Mountsler, Sandy Cole and Judy Martini. The long-awaited new zoning code has many anxious for input. Some members are so anxious, they found it necessary to interrupt the meeting.

The full board will meet in a committee of the whole, July 21 to have their say.

Victim of times

Waukegan Building Comm. Noah Murphy, 66, could be the latest victim of "public service burnout." Murphy, cited personal reasons in quitting after nearly three decades in public life, but he took most of the heat in the housing discrimination suit brought by the federal government. A former alderman and city treasurer, Murphy served three different mayors.

Dear old golden school days

Pat Cumiskey Kupfer, who was a year ahead of me in high school, went to her 50-year class reunion last summer.

"We had a wonderful time," she says laughing, "but we could tell we were getting old because by 10 o'clock half the people were gone. And by 10:30 the band packed up and left."

Hard to believe, but my 50-year class reunion happens next weekend in Kenosha. Whew, that was a fast half-century! I went to the 20-year party in 1967 but skipped our 25th, 30th, 35th, 40th and 45th.

The few friends from the Kenosha Bradford class of '47 whom I have seen from time to time have scolded me for being a reunion dropout.

I had planned to skip next week's golden event, too, until two of my best friends in high school, Bill Sobol and Dick Guerrucci, called from California to say they were coming and I had better be there.

I do recall my senior year in high school as one of the best times of my life. I didn't particularly like going to classes, but there were so many things popping in sports and the social whirl that I dreaded missing a day of it.

As for reunions, however, I feel a bit self-conscious. Hey, if we haven't been close all these years, why hang out now? Why not leave a pleasant memory alone?

Well, I have changed my mind. To write this, I called two of the reunion organizers, Betty O'Hare Aielo and Bill Kupfer (Pat's husband). And chatting with them was so pleasant and easy, it was as if a 50-year gap was immediately bridged. As Yogi Berra would say, it was déjà vu all over again.

Although becoming 67 or 68 years old happened much too quickly, we're still savoring life and feeling lucky. From our graduating class of more than 400, about 90 will be listed in the program as the dearly departed.

Actually, I feel better today than when I retired from the newspaper grind four years ago. Being able to march to your own drummer, and nap a lot, apparently are beneficial.

Except for some arthritis, bursitis, sciatica, and a back that goes out more often than I do, I feel marvelous!

I was embarrassed at the 20-year reunion when a woman hurried up to greet me enthusiastically, but I didn't recognize her — although we had dated a few times as teen-agers. She was highly insulted!

In the event some of us have changed in the last 50 years, the senior photos from our yearbook have been copied and will appear on our name tags.

Kenosha Bradford is proud to have turned out such graduates as Don Ameche, Alan Ameche, Daniel Travanti and Al Molinaro ("The Odd Couple" and "Happy Days"). My class didn't produce anyone quite that famous, but Bill Kupfer filled me in on some of our successful old pals.

Our top jock, Ken Huxhold, played football for the Philadelphia Eagles; Lowell Reed is a federal district judge in Philadelphia; Mel Krieger is a world renowned fly-fishing expert in San Francisco, and Willis Schaefer and Buddy Clark became big-time musicians.

My reluctance about reunions stems from the fact that many of my old friends now are in "Who's Who" while I'm still in "Who's He?"

But, okay, you guys, I'll be there. At least you could find me, unlike Dan Kreuser.

"Funny thing," says Bill Kupfer. "All we know is that Dan went to Germany to do something and was never heard from again."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Public needs all the facts on Route 53 extension

Kenneth Patchen's report on Rte. 53 CPC construction standards states, the standards "are expected to lessen the impact" of construction on residents near the site. He quotes Mundelein Assistant Village Administrator Mike Flynn, "the uniqueness of this standard is that we have plan review authority—we want to be heard." Yes, open dialogue is a good thing. And yes, Mundelein will have review authority. Whether they will be heard by the toll authority is a huge question mark, as all those involved are well aware. The report goes on, "The adopted dispute resolution process comes in to settle disagreements."

It does no such thing. The only "process" involved would be the Village going through the motions of making a complaint and the toll authority pretending to listen. Village Administrator Ken Marabella, in an open CPC meeting and prompted by my questioning regarding this very dispute resolution process, freely acknowledged that should a dispute arise, all the toll authority has to do is explain why they refuse to meet a standard, then are free to do exactly as they please.

The construction standards agreement, and all CPC agreements with the toll authority, are totally non-binding to the toll authority.

Let's start hearing all the facts about the 53 issue, not just the ones that make good PR.

Leave it to Grever

Bob Grever said of Charles Lucas, a proposed candidate for the Lake County ZBA, that if you don't have anything good to say, you should say nothing. That's what he was taught growing up.

The planning and zoning committee refused to consider anyone for the job. Bob Grever said Raftis is his choice and he understood Mr. Lucas' attendance at Regional Planning Commissioner's meeting was less than desirable.

This from the same Mr. Grever who reappointed him to the RPC but says he never met him according to the Vernon Hills News, June 19 edition.

Just another example of the pro-growth Republican bloc protecting their own with absolute disregard for the voting public of Lake County in my opinion.

Actually, it appears the five democrats are the real power on the board. Is that Bob Depke's legacy? June and Ward would be proud of their little Grever.

Flag desecration is criminal

I am writing in response to Martha Marks' letter in support of flag burning.

On July 4, 1989, I was in San Clemente, Calif., enjoying a holiday leave from service in the U.S. Marine Corps. Observing the aftermath of a parade, I heard a voice call out that an American flag was being burnt.

Letters welcome

Letters to the editor are welcome. They should be on topics of general interest, approximately 250 words or less. All letters must be signed and contain a home address and telephone number. The editor reserves the right to condense all letters.

Three Marine colleagues answered the call and disappeared into the crowd. I did not see those Marines until the next day.

My Marine friends told me they found the flag, and the person burning it. They grabbed the flag, and fled with what was left of our smoldering national symbol. The flag burner called for the police, and the Marines went into hiding.

After reading Marks' letter, I could not help but remember that July 4, 1989 incident, where the patriots protecting Old Glory became the criminals. Too bad the patriots had to go into hiding instead of the flag burner.

Although Marks claims a love for the flag in her writing, her description of Old Glory as a simple piece of cloth, routinely made in factory, shows her real attitude. I doubt Marks would have any reaction to a disrespected American flag, other than to state the belief that it is an individual's right to do so.

Simply put, flag desecration is not speech, it is a criminal act. Telling a person you do not like them is constitutionally protected free speech. Expressing that dislike by means of a punch in the face is a crime, not protected by the constitution.

The decision rendering statutes prohibiting flag burning unconstitutional was the U.S. Supreme Court case of "Texas vs. Johnson." The decision only had five of the nine Supreme Court Justices supporting the opinion. In his well written dissent, Chief Justice Rehnquist noted that prior courts had upheld statutes regulating the use of the American Flag.

Chief Justice Rehnquist also wrote that the flag was not an idea. Did anyone know what a person was saying when they burnt a flag? Obviously, burning a flag does not state a position on a political question. Rehnquist put it best when he defined the American Flag as an "embodiment of our national identity."

The flag represents the American nation and its people. An act against that flag is an act against the nation and its people. For this reason, heroic Americans died in battle in order to keep our national symbol from touching the ground. The flag deserves to be protected by its citizens and by the law of the land.

The old way is better

I noticed in the square box of instructions in Lipservice that you added that callers need to leave their name and phone number. This scares off a lot of people. This is an implication that you can be traced and if someone wants to get back at you for some repercussion, they can do it. I think it should be taken out.

No UFOs

I'd like to make some comments about the current controversy about UFOs. The Air Force has never denied that there are UFOs. What they are denying is that UFOs are coming from a different universe, that they're aliens. I can't blame them for that. I can't see where we've been visited by aliens from outer space. Scientists proved within the last 10 years that the earth is being bombarded by large chunks of ice that hit the atmosphere and evaporate. I don't think there's anything out there that's mysterious. I never have believed in UFOs.

Open your mind

In response to "Go look elsewhere," rather than put down Wauconda's students, why don't you open your mind and listen to what he has to say? This young man sounds like he's well on his way of making something of himself. He obviously is an excellent student who had some concerns about his education at Wauconda High School and wasn't afraid to make a statement. Could he have been more tactful? Sure. To exclude him from the ranks of wonderful kids who go on to do something great is premature. It looks to me like a top student who is planning on continuing his education at one of Illinois' top universities isn't scared to go out into the real world, but preparing to meet it head on.

Show up

I received a registered letter recently that they would like to rezone the area of Beach Grove Road and Route 59. They want to put in a strip mall on Route 59 across from Emmons School and build about 50-60 homes on the area down Beach Grove Road to Route 59. Everyone that lives here knows this is a potentially dangerous area to try to get out on the road. There will be a meeting July 10 at the village hall in Antioch. People should come and express their concerns. Once the builder builds, he leaves here and doesn't care what happens in our community.

Different opinion

This is in regard to the person who says they're a taxpayer and complained about the bumps and dips in Fox Lake. I'm also a taxpayer, one of the oldest. I'm very happy with the roads. A good job has been done and the snowplowing is good. Maybe you didn't win the election or were on the wrong side. Better luck next time!

Make sure

When buying a condominium, senior citizens should make sure it's not on a concrete block. They'll pay dearly with their health. Cold in the winter, damp in the summer, and high assessments. Sweet dreams!

What whiners

I can't believe all the people calling in whining about how great teachers have it. I would think these people would appreciate all the work teachers do to educate their children. Out of all the occupations in the world, you would think this would be one of the most respected and appreciated. Apparently, according to all you yuppie whiners who are bitter about their own career choices, it's not. If you think the grass on the other side of the fence is greener, why don't you go back to school and get a teaching degree (it's never too late)? But then I have a feeling that if you did become a teacher, you would still find things to complain about. People like you are never happy. It comes down to this: Quit worrying about what other people have or don't have compared to you. Take care of your own business, get involved in the community and your children's lives, and things will take care of themselves. You will be amazed how good you'll feel without all the misdirected and pent-up hostility.

Where are we going?

Thanks, Lipservice, for this wonderful service you're giving us. Why can't Spring Grove put a sign up selling Avon, etc. and Fox Lake can't? A post office that's five years old. No parking in Fox Lake. A new one in Spring Grove. Wake up, Fox Lake. Sixty years is a long time. We've had nothing. Where are we going?

Shape up

I'm calling because after attending a meeting on June 22 for Grant Township Little League, I was surprised to see the minutes from the previous meeting were not read aloud. The audience wasn't large by any means, but there were people in attendance, not just the board. No treasurer's report was given. The reason being the independent audit still taking place is only partially complete. The letter they mailed to membership stated the audit was complete. The totals in the letter mailed and the totals of the papers handed out at the meeting did not match. The audience was never offered even copies to look at. Is this proper procedure for a public meeting, or is this part of their problem? In light of their situation making the front page of the Fox Lake Press on June 19, and a letter mailed to try to explain things, why is it that nothing was read aloud? I'm also surprised by the apathy of the parents? Don't you care what's going on? Wake up and get involved for your kids.

Can't count on 'em

It's apparent that we can't count on the city or the village trustees or our state representatives to do anything about the airplane noise that flies over our heads at night, waking us up. Call the Noise Abatement Line, (773) 686-2377. I guess the representatives just don't have those airplanes flying over their heads, that's why they're not doing anything about it.

No role model

Why can a person steal $17,000+ from our Little League fund and not go to jail, but be allowed to coach and serve as a role model for our children. What kind of role model is this? She's definitely not Kiesgen caliber.

Fox Lake

Great pageant

I would like to congratulate the committee and the people that worked on the Grayslake pageant this year. It was a great pageant. I think the pageant system has gotten a bad rap because of other things that have happened. I think a lady named Koran Worklan did a great job. My daughter was involved and enjoyed it and had a wonderful time. We heard that Koran is retiring and we hope she reconsiders.

Looking trashy

For the life of me I cannot understand, when Round Lake Beach is starting to look very nice, and putting in nice parks and the Con-dell Acute Care Medical Center, which looks nice, the village approves a used car lot where the old bank used to be on Rollins Road. This looks really trashy and was a terrible idea.

Don't blame me

I'm calling about "Don't blame the coyotes." I've lived here eight years in the same apartment. I was going to let my dog out last night, but there were three coyotes in my yard, and I have my dog on a chain.

So, don't blame me, blame the coyotes.

Unsafe for summer

As a new resident in your beautiful town, despite being handicapped, I enjoy walking my dog at night in relative safe surroundings compared to my previous residence in Chicago. That was as of recently, when a group of Antioch's best and brightest graduates turned north out of Williams Park onto Route 83 and decided to yell very insulting, filthy obscenities at me. I was a teen just 17 years ago and wasn't always at my best behavior, but screaming sick and tasteless vulgarities out a car window at an adult wasn't the way my friends and I tried to impress each other. I doubt these kids would have the guts to express their manhood face to face. I'm a firm believe in what comes around goes around. I hope they get all their aggressions out this summer so that I might enjoy some peaceful walks when they're back in school this fall. Maybe they need mom and dad to take away their expensive wheels and put some soap in their mouth, like I used to get when I was a kid.

You're so naive

I'm calling about the people that are complaining about the playsets. I think they're naive. People today are taking pride in their children and trying to make them more agile and fit than in past years. I think it's the best thing to happen. You see kids playing in the summertime. They're great. The property values won't go down, you'll just get younger neighbors. If you don't like that, move somewhere else. If you don't like the playsets, put blinds in your windows.

History lesson

In response to last week's "Fly the flag," why would we fly the Confederate flag on the 4th of July? Independence Day celebrates the signing of the Declaration of Independence, when we declared our independence from England. That happened in 1776. I think you need a history lesson. The Civil War didn't begin until the 1860s, almost 100 years later. The American flag is flown because the Confederate flag has nothing to do with the signing of the Declaration of Independence. To check this, you can check any grade school history book. It's sad when people don't even know why we celebrate the 4th of July. But since we have our independence, you can fly whatever flag you want.

Thanks for fishing story

I'm calling about the Thursday, June 12 Round Lake News. There's an article on the front page about teaching to fish and a girl winning a bike. I want to show my appreciation for allowing that article to be printed. It speaks a good message.

Celebrating July Fourth early

Traditionally, our family celebrates Independence Day on July Fourth. We may have a picnic, watch the local parade or just enjoy the fireworks. This year our Independence Day came a little early.

For the past several months I've been battling cancer. I was diagnosed and began chemotherapy treatment last December. Eight treatments, seven months and two surgeries later I am "cancer free." I got the news on Tuesday, June 10, my personal Independence Day.

According to the American Cancer Society one-in-three Americans will have cancer in their lifetime. The odds are strong that you or one of your loved ones will face a similar battle in coming years. Therefore, I want to share a little insight as a survivor.

Surviving cancer

- Without Divine intervention, we're all going to die. However, when death seems eminent, you discover how you die is of little importance compared to how you've lived.

I once believed I wouldn't change anything in my life if I had to live it over. I now have a new perspective and will chart a little different course for the future.

- Life is short. I now begin each day thanking God for one more opportunity. Though I still have many goals and ambitions, the future is not as important as today. Today, I'll strive to be a faithful servant of the Lord, a loving husband, a good dad, a dedicated employee and a worthy friend.

I've learned to love my loved ones, cherish my friends, make peace with my maker and find happiness each day. Take the trip you've always talked about, call your mother and visit those old friends. Your tomorrow may never come.

- Cancer can take your life, but it cannot kill your faith. It can bring pain and suffering, but it cannot diminish love and friendship. It can alter your routine, but it cannot steal your peace. It can ravage your body, but it cannot touch your soul. It can change your life, but it will not alter eternity.

- Faith and attitude are key ingredients in your battle with any disease. For me, my faith reinforced my attitude. Philippians 1:21 became my daily motto. In this verse Paul writes, "For to me, to live is Christ, and to die is gain."

I said "If God allows me to survive cancer then I'll try harder to live for him every day. If I die, then I die with the peace of knowing that eternity in Heaven is the ultimate and perfect healing." I was a winner either way. I could set aside worry and focus my attitude on getting well.

Thanksgiving Day, too

It is only appropriate that I thank those who helped me win the battle: First, my faithful Lord, my ultimate healer, then my family, close friends, and prayer partners who sent thousands of verbal petitions to God for my healing and cared for me in the meantime. My co-workers at West Texas A&M Univ. who kept the small business center going. My doctors and the nurses and staff of the Harrington Cancer Center who provided the medical and

Rep. Porter works for small business

Rep. John Porter (R-10th Dist.) receives recognition from NFIB President Jack Faris for the importance of small business to America and working for small business in Congress.—Submitted Photo

The nation's largest small-business advocacy organization saluted Rep. John Porter of the 10th Congressional District in Illinois for recognizing the importance of small business to America and working for small business in Congress.

NFIB (National Federation of Independent Business) kicked off "Small Business Works for America," a grassroots public awareness program to inform and enhance appreciation of small-business contributions to the American way of life and the problems facing independent business owners. As part of that kickoff, NFIB presented lawmakers with certificates thanking them for supporting small business.

"Rep. Porter knows all that small business does for this country," NFIB President Jack Faris, said. "This program points out the role small business plays in both the national economy and the quality of life in local communities. But it also emphasizes to lawmakers that certain legislation and regulations can threaten the profitability—indeed the survival—of small firms everywhere. It's important to recognize members of Congress who understand this."

The results of a new Gallup poll, commissioned by NFIB, show that the majority of Americans regard small business as a positive influence and feel it has "too little" influence on America life.

"The poll found that overwhelming majorities view small-business owners as working harder than most Americans and giving back more to their communities the most," Faris said. Most also recognize that small business accounts for the lion's share of job creation and a significant amount of innovation, according to the survey.

"The poll also found that most believe it will be harder to start a successful business 20 years from now—primarily due to increased government "interference" and decreased access to start-up capital," Faris said. "Our hope is that the 'Small Business Works for America' program will help crystallize the importance of small business in the minds of all Americans, so that they will speak up with us in the halls of government, insisting on policies that help expand opportunities for small business growth and development."

Lake County leaders praise NICASA director

Fried celebrates 20th anniversary

Lake County civic and business leaders are commending Judy Fried for her accomplishments during 20 years of service to the Northern Illinois Council on Alcoholism and Substance Abuse.

Fried, who has been executive director for 15 years, joined the NICASA staff in June 1977. She has seen the agency grow from a handful of employees at a small facility in Waukegan to 80 employees at five sites throughout Lake County.

One of the largest human service agencies in Lake County, NICASA provided outpatient treatment services to more than 7,000 people during the past year and reached thousands more through its prevention programs.

NICASA Board Chairman James S. Kemper III, who is executive vice president of the Commercial Lines Group at Kemper National Insurance Co., said he became a board member in 1982 just as Fried had been named executive director.

"Judy's done a great job," he said. "She changed the agency from a survival story to a success story. She has so many great qualities—vision, energy, enthusiasm and dedication."

Lake County State's Attorney Michael Waller, a longtime NICASA board member, said, "Judy is a dedicated, committed and passionate advocate for providing the finest treatment and prevention services to the people of Lake County. As executive director, she has conceived some of the finest programs anywhere in the country."

Waller said the NICASA staff reflects her qualities. "She has a real talent for attracting people who share her passion," he said.

NICASA Board President Henry Weishaar is most impressed with Fried's leadership skills.

"She's a compassionate person, a great leader and a tremendous professional," he said. "She could have made a lot of money in the private sector, but she's dedicated her life to helping people."

He said it took a great leader to develop a program that is as comprehensive and visionary as the Women and Children's Center in North Chicago.

Weishaar, who is vice president of human resources for Abbott's Hospital Products Division, said Fried works effectively with people at every level, be they clients, staff, community leaders or corporate CEOs.

Claudia Calhoun, a vice president of the United Way of Lake County, said the area is fortunate to have Fried at the helm of a major human service organization.

"When one can touch the life of another in a positive and constructive way, that's a great contribution," Calhoun said. "Under Judy's leadership, NICASA continues to provide the valuable service of education and dignity to individual lives."

The scores of programs developed under Fried's leadership include a Women and Children's Center for addicted women and their children living in poverty. The North

Chicago-based program gets addicted women on the road to recovery, reunited with their children and off the welfare rolls.

Fried also directed the formation of innovative on-site parent training services known as the Parent Project at Abbott Laboratories and several other major corporations as well as a parent training program for female inmates of the Lake County Jail. The Parent Project has been so successful that in 1996 it was named one of the nation's top 15 model family-based delinquency prevention programs by the U.S. Office of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention.

Fried's commitment to preventing child abuse and providing safe haven for battered women resulted in her co-founding the Lake County Crisis Center for Domestic Violence—known as A Safe Place. She served as first president of its board.

Fried said the development of NICASA's Women and Children's Center is a highlight of her 20 years of service.

"I've believed throughout my professional history that addicted women need treatment that's different from men," she said. "The Women and Children's Center provides an array of services that hadn't been provided."

Other highlights she cites include the partnership with Abbott that resulted in the development of the Parent Project for company employees, directing the collaborative effort of all segments of the community that led to the formation of the Lake County Fighting Back Project, the Lake County Court rule that resulted in NICASA being the sole provider of DUI services and the construction of the headquarters facility in Round Lake in 1992.

"We've developed programs before they've become an emerging trend," she said.

"I've enjoyed my 20 years at NICASA—all the great people I've met and the diversity of experiences I've had," she said. "I've met with corporate presidents and the leaders of government, yet I've also been able to work with clients who have been on welfare."

Fried, a Lincolnshire resident, has been vice-chair of the Illinois Advisory Council on Alcoholism and Drug Dependency since 1984 and in 1991 was named to the Governor's Forum on Substance Abuse. She is a past member of the Executive Director Board of the National Council on Alcoholism and has served on numerous other advisory groups at the state and national levels.

Joyce Millman, NICASA's director of parent services, said she appreciates the freedom Fried gives those who work for her.

"She knows how to let her staff do what they do best, without a lot of interference," Millman said. "When they succeed she is supportive and when they fail she helps them find new ways to do things."

Debbie Cassale, deputy director, offers this insight: "Change is what you can expect if you spend time with Judy—as either a co-worker or volunteer. She's a brilliant visionary, an intuitive supervisor and a charismatic leader. Most Lake Countians have no idea of the many ways she's changed their lives over the years—through the many programs she either launched or inspired. I consider it an honor to have worked with her over all these years."

John Merwin, associate director, said of Fried: "Judy's specialty is unlocking people's potential to become better and is always on the lookout for their hidden capacities."

"She has conceived some of the finest programs anywhere in the country"—State's Attorney Michael Waller.

Des Plaines River trail grows again in Gurnee

The Des Plaines River Trail will reach south from Grand Ave. to Washington St. in Gurnee following approval of a trail construction contract by the Lake County Forest Preserve Board of Commissioners.

The one-mile addition to the Lake County Forest Preserves' Des Plaines River Trail will allow hikers, bicyclists, equestrians and snowmobilers to wind through an oak savanna and floodplain forest and over bridges and boardwalks along the river. The project also includes restoration of a 12 acre prairie near Washington Street and future connections with the Gurnee Village trail system.

Kovilic Construction Co. Inc., was awarded the $657,514 bid, with funding split between voter-approved bonds from the successful 1993 Forest Preserve bond referendum and a Open Space Land Acquisition and Development Grant from the Illinois Dept. of Natural Resources. Construction should begin July 1 and end by Nov. 1.

The trail addition will extend the northern section of the Des Plaines River Trail to 11 miles from Russell Road near the Illinois-Wisconsin state line, south to Washington Street in Gurnee. By Fall 1997, the Lake County Forest Preserves will have completed 23 miles of the planned 33 miles of the Des Plaines River Trail.

Free Des Plaines River Trail maps are available from the Lake County Forest Preserves' General Offices at 367-6640.

Daun takes two sprints at Wilmot Raceway

Kenosha's Todd Daun chalked up his second straight 25-lap Budweiser Racing Series Sprint Car feature, highlighting Dave's Muffler and Brake Shop Night at Premier Racing Production's Wilmot Speedway. Tom Bartz of Elkhart Lake recorded his first 15 lap Wisconsin Mini-Sprint Assn. feature at Wilmot. Larry Marshall of Kansasville captured his second 20 lap IMCA Modified main.

"Everything is coming together," said Daun, who was hooked up in a tight battle with Kim Mock much of the main. "This JB Chassis ran perfectly. I knew Kim would be tough to get around, but I stuck with my bottom line and finally was able to get him."

Mock, driving the Outhouse Engineering Car, took the initial lead, maintaining it through the only caution on lap 2. Mock and Daun began working lapped traffic, with Mock slamming the door on Daun several times as the two kept switching lines. The two briefly exchanged the point with five laps to go, with Daun popping a wheelie on the inside down the backstretch to power past Mock in the final exchange.

At the finish it was Daun and Mock in the top two spots. Dave Moulis, who was bidding for a clean sweep after posting fast time among the 55 sprint cars on hand and winning the fourth heat, was third. Todd Hepfner fourth. Mike Frost, who won a hotly contested "B" main over Allen Winker, was fifth with Winker sixth. Joe Roe, who transferred by finishing third in the "B" main, started last in the feature and finished 10th.

"This is the first time I've ever won two features in a row," said Marshall, who took over the IMCA feature lead on lap 9 when early race leader Lee Tibbitts spun in turn one. "I knew Rob (Olson) was coming up on me, because I saw his front wheel at my door a couple of times. I was able to stick to my groove."

Marshall and Olson hooked up initially in a race for second until Tibbitts looped, turning the battle into one for the top spot. Several times Olson worked inside Marshall coming through turn one and two, but each time Marshall was up to the challenge. Marshall held on for the victory by less than a car length with Olson second. Vince Heywood took third. Jimmy Joe Urbanik fourth. Mike Breytspraak fifth.

"The track was a little slick down low, and I knew Ryan Mathews was coming on," said Bartz, who became the fourth different mini-sprint main winner in six events. "It feels great to win here and I really appreciate the fans for watching us race here at Wilmot."

Bartz took the lead on lap three from John Peters following a lap two red flag when Dave Walford rolled onto his side in turn two. Walford, who was running second at the time, was able to drive back to the pits, but was done for the night.

Mathews, who started 14th in the 20 car field, worked through traffic quickly, taking second with 10 laps to go following a second red flag when Lenny Kay went over in turn three. Kay was uninjured. Mathews and Romy Baus hooked up in a run for second place after the restart, allowing Bartz to pull away despite a final caution with three laps to go for a stalled car. Mathews kept second with Baus third. Michael Emme was fourth. Tony Deieso fifth.

The mini-sprint heats saw two cars get upside down in separate incidents. The first came in the second heat with Mark Topczewski getting on his side while tangling with Kai McNulty. McNulty was not able to make repairs, while Topczewski ended up placing 12th in the feature. A three car tangle in the third heat saw Tom Adinolfi get upside down and Tony Deieso get airborne, but manage to land on all four wheels. Deieso came back to run the feature and finish fifth, while Adinolfi was through for the night.

The third sprint heat saw Dennis Spitz shear an axle going into the first turn at the start and flip. Spitz was not injured, but the entire rear section of the car was unable to be repaired.

Jeremy Vignieri of Kenosha received a new bicycle donated by mini-sprint driver Terry Ahern, owner of Terry's Byke Haus in LaGrange Park. Ahern is one of several drivers who have donated funds to purchase bikes, which will be given away to a lucky youngster on the last race night of each month.

A total of 98 open wheel cars including 55 spring cars were on hand.

On Saturday, July 5, Wilmot Speedway hosts the Coors Light Silver Bullet Salute to Independence Day Night featuring sprint cars, IMCA modifieds and mini-sprints. Grandstands open at 5 p.m. with time trials at 6:15 p.m. and racing to follow.

Wilmot Speedway is participating in several Independence Day week activities. The Palman Motors Official Pace Truck along with Kevin Olsen's sprint car participated in the Waukegan Heritage Festival parade.

On Friday, July 4, the Pace Truck along with sprint cars of Don Durham of Racine and Phil Wade of Kenosha will be in the Racine parade. The Antioch parade will feature the MRA modified of Tommy Sexton, the IMCA modifieds of Vince Heywood, Scott Heath and Warren Meyer, the sprint car of Todd Lehr, and the mini-modified of Eric Rosemann. Kai McNulty plans to have his mini-sprint at Union Grove. Meyer also hopes to have his car in the Twin Lakes parade.

The next Wilmot Speedway Race Car show at Southport Plaza McDonald's in Kenosha will be from 6 until 10 p.m. on Friday, July 11.

Advance tickets for the rescheduled Miller Lite sponsored King of Wisconsin Sprint Car Challenge on Saturday, July 19, are available at the track ticket office on race nights. Joining the program featuring the weekly StarTrac sprint car warriors of Wilmot taking on the J and L Oil Interstates Racing Assn. Spring Cars will be the IMCA modifieds.

NWSC teams look toward FVC

By STEVE PETERSON
Staff Reporter

When Round Lake rallied from 10 runs down to beat Grayslake in a post-season softball game, the book was formally closed on the Northwest Suburban Conference.

When teams from Grayslake, Round Lake, Grant and Wauconda as well as Johnsburg and Marian Central clash in the future, the rivalry will be there but not as much will be at stake. For most sports, it will be non-conference time.

"It was a good conference. You have to see it go one by one," said Round Lake baseball coach Howard Conkling.

Grayslake is venturing to the bigger Fox Valley Conference. Johnsburg will be Class A (smaller schools) next year and be in the Big Northern for all sports except football, and Marian Central begins affiliation with a Catholic league. Those not in that group will be moving on as independents.

Grayslake is poised to make the move with a fieldhouse, lockerroom improvements and additional coaches. The familiar NWSC banners will be replaced with FVC placards.

"We will play each other twice except for soccer and volleyball. In baseball, there will be two-game series," said Rams athletic director and football coach Dan Dillon.

Growth and opportunities for students prompted the Rams' bid for the FVC, which spelled the end of the 30-year old neighborhood-type league.

"We had the final athletic directors meeting last week and there was some talk of getting together to schedule non-conference games to keep the rivalries going, because we put in a lot of time and are still friends," said Dillon.

The loss of the old conference teams meant a possible scheduling nightmare for the athletic directors.

"It was not easy, but not as difficult as one would expect," said Grant A.D. Frank Cittadino.

"The Wisconsin schools, Wilmot and Westosha Central, Fox Valley schools McHenry and Woodstock, Zion-Benton and Johnsburg have been helpful," said Cittadino.

Some loose associations are planned. An all-level baseball and softball tournament over Easter weekend among the old NWSC teams is in the works next year.

Some teams will have to play reduced schedules, although schools have generally found teams such as Wilmot and Westosha willing to add games as well as Woodlands Academy.

The final year of the NWSC was good to McHenry County entrants Johnsburg and Marian Central. Marian won crowns in girls volleyball, boys tennis and soccer. Johnsburg won the football title and qualified for the playoffs for the first time. Grant won boys basketball and wrestling. Wauconda won crowns in girls basketball, girls softball and baseball. Grayslake kept the boys soccer, girls and boys track crowns.

Grayslake is scheduled to open with Prairie Ridge at the new Crystal Lake school on Aug. 30 for football. But, there is a question if the football field will be ready.

A four-year football mentor, Dillon recalls such outstanding players as running backs Jason Olson of the Rams, Dave Stone of Grant, Larry Boldea of Johnsburg and quarterbacks Joe Rockers of Marian and Kevin Cajda of Wauconda in recent years.

The Rams have made an effort to schedule FVC teams this past year, playing Woodstock and Cary-Grove, among others.

The beginning of the league's end came more than 15 years ago. Stevenson left first, then Warren and Antioch pulled out in 1983 for the more booming area of the North Suburban Conference, then Lake Zurich left for the FVC and Marengo for the Big Northern.

Fred Loffredo has spent much of his adult life in associations with the NWSC. He was head football coach at Grant in the 1960s, followed by a stint at Wauconda. He has since retired from teaching, but remains active as assistant wrestling and football coach at Grant.

"Grant used to have a big rivalry with Antioch. Warren, Lake Forest, Wauconda and Lake Zurich were in the league when I started in 1960-61," said Loffredo.

He recalls how Grant, led by the likes of Steve and Dave Spencer, Willis Kline, Tony Cullotta and Steve Welter, ended the 34-game conference win streak of Lake Forest in 1964.

In 1965, Grant was 8-1 behind Steve Spencer's quarterbacking skills.

The early 1960s featured a future TV sports commentator, Tim Wiegel, as a punter for Lake Forest. There were some interesting battles, said Loffredo.

Loffredo, of Ingleside, brought his coaching style to Wauconda where he coached the 1974 team to the first round of the state's first playoffs.

Tony Gallivan, uncle of current

Bulldog Chris Gallivan, was the QB while Tom Harris was fullback and Dave Zamski was a lineman who went on to Southern Illinois University.

Then there was the latest playoff appearance for Grant, 1993.

"We got off to a rough start but won all our conference games. We were ahead of Crystal Lake South until the last 1:37 in the playoff game. Our running back, Stone, was hurt in that game," said Loffredo.

"There have been a lot of changes in the state with shifting enrollments and geographic patterns. It is unfortunate this (the NWSC demise) had to happen. I am sure the athletic directors will come up with something. The independent status will not be around long," said Loffredo.

"I thought for us, the two best natural rivalries I have ever been associated with was Grayslake and Grant. They were not always the best games, but you always had packed gyms. I remember one time we lost to Grant in four overtimes," said former Round Lake hoops coach Bob Ward.

"The coaches all had their personalities. You knew Grant would run the shuttle offense, and Grayslake would run the match-up zone. They were healthy rivalries that the kids looked forward to," said Ward, now at Wheaton North.

Outstanding athletes in his 10-year career include Tim Unroe, now a Class AAA baseball player; Damien Horn, Wally Illg and Frank Ptak.

Vikings get early start in MFL

They came from a variety of backgrounds—from Milwaukee to Chicago; southeast Wisconsin and north-east Illinois.

Their goal is a united one: to continue to play semi-pro football for the love of the game. Some have come from as far as Madison to continue their playing careers.

Guiding this group of warriors is John Tesch. He is the Lake County Vikings' new head coach as Russ Kraly becomes the general manager.

"This team is like a family. There is not much change in responsibilities," said Tesch.

The Vikings believe they had a good turnout of 35 players for the earliest first practice in team history June 22.

"We expect most players to be back from last season. We have some receivers who look pretty awesome," said Tesch as players trickled in for the 10 a.m. workout.

One player who will not be back is Chris Dillon. The lineman signed on with the Edmonton team of the Canadian Football League for an estimated $300,000. The 6-5, 300 pound lineman is the first Viking in many years to find a spot in professional football.

The reason for the early start is a July 4 exhibition game against the Cook County Packers at Shiloh Park in Zion. Kickoff is at 10 a.m.

Quarterback Addam Tesch, John's son, returns to lead the Vikings offense. He led a team from suburban Barcelona to the Spanish football championship in May. His brother, and running back Luke Tesch, Vinnie Lira also were on the team.

Tesch passed for 300 yards a game and had 40 TD passes in the 11-game season.

"The offense was pretty much the same. We threw a lot of short passes," said Tesch.

The Vikings' coaching staff includes Rip Appleby, who will be offensive coordinator, Ron Casey who will lead the defense and former player Pete Thoun, line coach.

"When I played, it had been eight years since I put on the equipment. We had trouble that year getting enough players to play the line," said Thoun.

The practices are open for anyone age 18 or over. The Vikes are 25-4 over the past two years.

"We have had some real good years and hope that continues," co-owner Rick Starosta said.

Practices will be Tuesdays and Thursdays evenings after the Sunday practices conclude.

The exhibition season includes a clash at Marquette University with the Chicago Cavaliers July 12 followed by home games at Round Lake High with Windy City Rams and Palos Force July 19 and 26.

Among the players back is receiver and former defensive back Jason DuFord of Racine, Wisconsin.

"I just love football. I am the type of person who could play year round if I could," he said.

"I want another ring. I worked out in the off-season with step aerobics. I want to lead the league in interceptions this year," said third-year defensive back Jerome Collins.

Reggie Lawrence is back after a year off to join the Vikings backfield at tailback.

"I missed playing last year. I had to sit out and that hurt. I have been working out and coaching and playing touch football. Our touch football team finished second in Milwaukee," said Lawrence.

The Vikings' regular season begins August 9 against the Midway Jets at 6 p.m. at Round Lake High.

The 26th Annual Lake County Ladies Invitational Amateur Golf Tournament to be held Monday, July 21 at Bonnie Brook Golf Course in Waukegan.

Eligibility requirements include an 18-hole established permanent USGA handicap index of 32.3 or under, must be a Lake County resident or have an affiliation with an 18-hole ladies golf league association.

Entry fee is $60 which includes 1997 LCLGA membership, green fees, prizes and lunch. No more than 120 entries will be accepted. Last date to enter: July 1st.

Bulldogs to benefit from golf outing

Grant High will sponsor its annual fund-raising golf outing July 12 at Antioch Country Club.

An automobile provided by Raymond Chevrolet will be the top prize of the day. The Fox Lake dealer gave one away last year as Mark Hill netted a hole-in-one on the par-three 17th hole.

"Most people who go to the golf outing support us and we are glad to help a good cause," said Ray Scarpelli, owner.

Football coach Mark Barczak said many alumni return to tell Bulldog war stories.

The sixth annual event will help purchase such items as new helmets and uniforms for the Bulldogs.

Entry fee is $60, dinner alone a $15 donation. There are 136 spots for golfers.

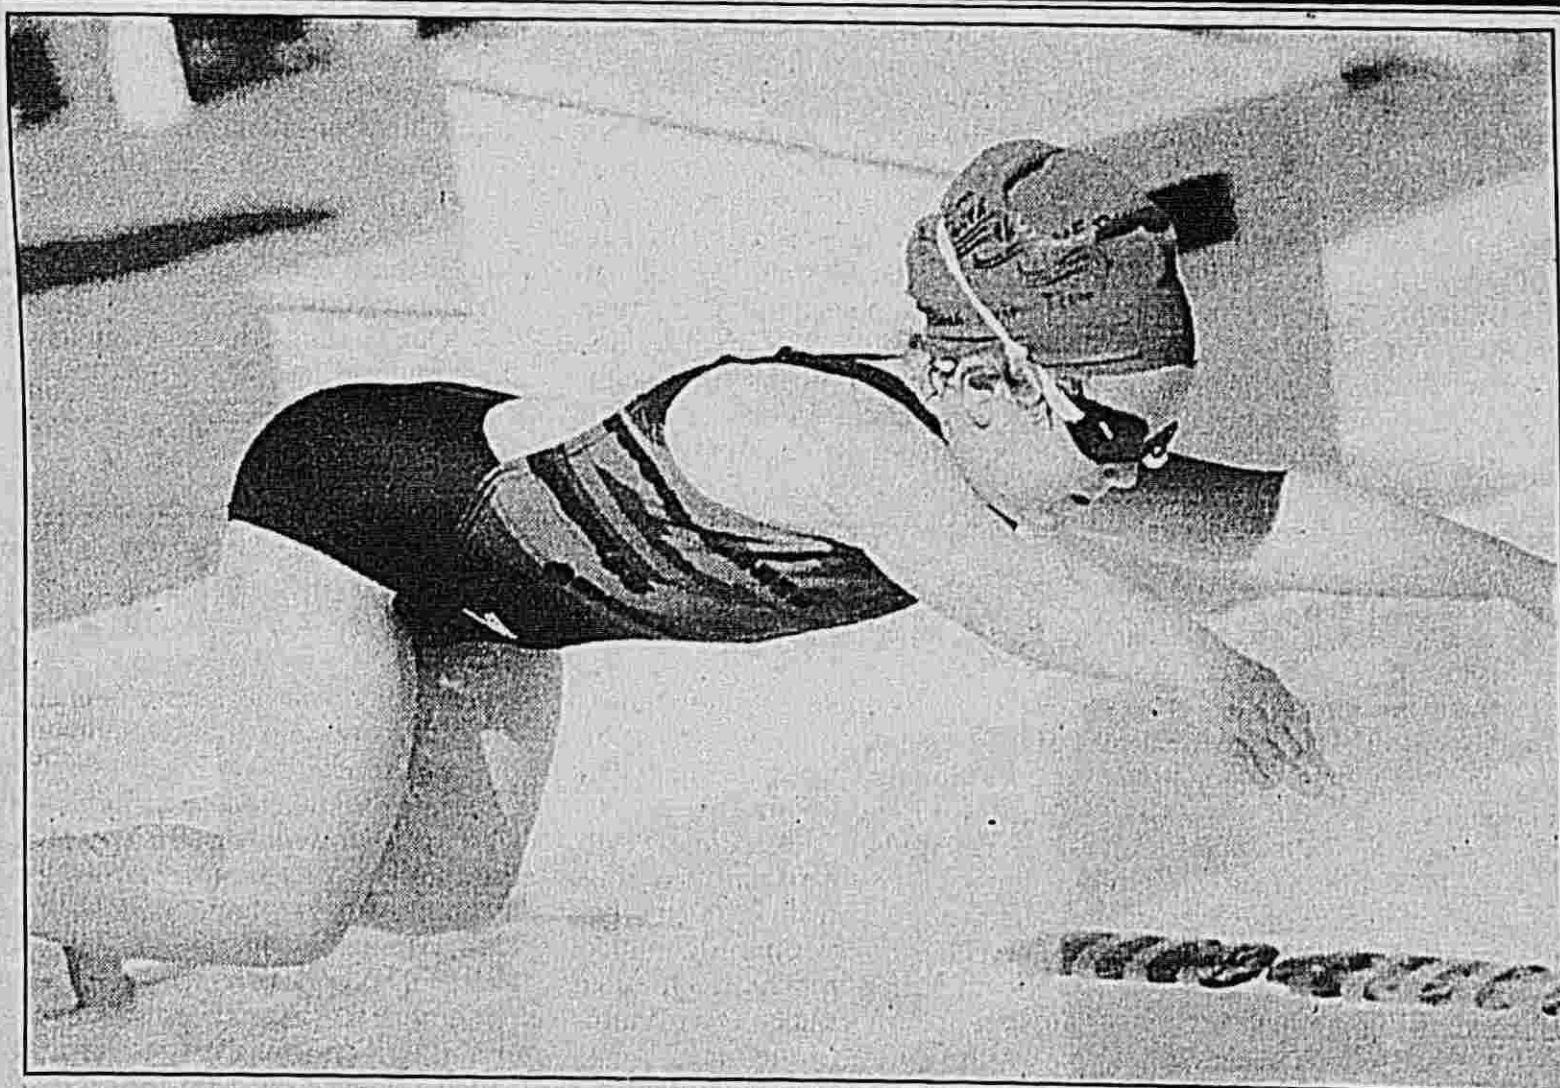

The Bulldogs are looking forward to this fall's season. An unbeaten freshmen team will attempt to win varsity spots. Hill's son Lenny is competing for a lineman's starting berth.

Grant, 1-8, last year, will be an independent on the gridiron this fall.

"Time will tell if the sophomores will earn spots on the varsity," said Barczak.

Grant hosts a passing league and plans to a clinic at the end of this month with the youth football Cardinals.

For more details on the golf outing, call Fred Loffredo at 746-9010.

HEXE

The attractive 2573 square foot Hexe captures the essence of the American dream. This ranch style beauty has everything a growing family needs to enjoy the on-the-go lifestyle of the 90's. The one-story, four bedroom floor design provides communal gathering sites while assuring privacy when desired. The exterior is equally impressive, with a large railed front porch, handsome siding and shake roof.

The entry to the Hexe enhances the openness of the floor plan. To the left of the entry, the spacious master suite is loaded with amenities. Isolated for privacy, the master suite features two roomy walk-in closets, a dormer window above and a private bathroom with twin basins.

Three additional bedrooms are located on the opposite end of the house. Bedrooms one and two, both good-sized, are situated next to each other and have ample closet space and a dormer window. Bedroom number three, across the hall, is somewhat larger, with a walk-in closet and dormer window. This bedroom could easily be converted for use as guest accommodations.

The U-shaped kitchen is perfectly placed for easy access and serving capability. Features here include a walk-in pantry, double ovens and eating bar. The dining room and nook are nearby with sliding glass door that opens to the railed deck. When the weather is agreeable, plan your Sunday brunch out here.

The vaulted family room, with a built-in entertainment center is an excellent place for friends and relatives to relax and savor a good movie or stimulating conversation.

An 825 square foot two-car garage contains a recessed shop area that offers an ideal spot to work on all those repair projects or to indulge in your favorite hobby. Directly inside the entrance from the garage, is a huge mud room. In addition to room for the washer and dryer, there is a sink and L-shaped bench for folding clothes.

For a study kit of the HEXE (338-040LP60) or a Dream Home Book, send $10.00, to Landmark Designs, 33127 Saginaw Rd. E., Cottage Grove, OR 97424 (Specify plan name & number for kit). ## Pet of the Week "MOE"

"MOE" is an unusually handsome mostly chow/shepherd mix. Moe is a neutered male and at four years old, in the prime of his life. He is a medium size dog with a luxuriously thick red-gold coat that's irresistible. He also has a beautiful face, and big brown eyes that match a big affectionate heart. Sadly, this great dog lost his home when his owner became too ill to care for him. This is a very well behaved dog possessing a sweet and calm disposition. Moe wants to please and is both responsive and trainable. This is a wonderful dog who has been overlooked at the shelter far too long. A resident for over a year, Moe will bring a handsome face, a wagging tail and a heart full of love to anyone looking for a wonderful companion animal. Come and meet Moe in Cage 79.

ALL DOGS BENEFIT FROM BASIC HOUSEBREAKING & OBEDIENCE TRAINING WHICH HELPS BOND DOG TO OWNER. CRATING IS RECOMMENDED WHEN THE OWNER IS AWAY FOR THE FIRST YEAR IF NEEDED.

Cash $55 donation includes free spay/neuter, collar, tag, leash, first shots, follow up care and much more.

Orphans of the Storm is located at 2200 Riverwoods Rd., Deerfield. Hours are 11am-5pm, seven days a week. Call (847) 945-0235 for further information.

Ask The Vet

Ask The Vet- Dr. David Trask is part of a group of northern Lake County veterinarians who pooled their money and expertise to start All Creatures Emergency Hospital in Grayslake providing emergency care to pets nights, weekends and holidays. During the day he can be reached at Lindenhurst Animal Hospital.

Q: My dog seems to be scratching but I can't find any fleas. Is this a nervous habit?

A: Animals, like people, can have inhalant allergies to many different types of airborne particles. The difference between people and animal allergies is where people seem to develop upper respiratory difficulties, animals tend to develop skin, foot and ear problems. These allergy symptoms can be treated in many cases with oral medications; In some more severe allergy patients allergy tests can be conducted in order to determine what specific allergens your pet is having difficulty with and hypodermic shots can be given, much like with humans.

Q: My Samoyed seems to pant a lot during the summer and I thought about taking him to have him shaved. Is this recommended?

A: AT MOST veterinarians would prefer SHORTENING a Samoyed's hair, not shaving it. Shaving long-haired breeds too short leaves the pet vulnerable to sunburn and contact allergies. All your pet needs is to be properly groomed by both you and your groomer regularly, and be kept free of mats to allow proper air circulation on warm days. Long-haired and thick-coated dogs require AT LEAST weekly brushing by you and preferably grooming by a professional groomer AT LEAST every 8-12 weeks to avoid mats and tangles. Dog hair that is PROPERLY CARE FOR acts as a shield which keeps them warm in the winter and cool in the summer (as long as they are not matted or tangled). Proper hair care can enable you and your pet to enjoy a full, lustrous coat and minimal shedding. Make sure your dog has access to shade at all times during the summer.

Q: How do I get my Gray Amazon Parrot from swearing? He just started doing this.

A: Your parrot is mimicking what he hears in his environment. Keep your pet's environment free of this language and your pet will be unable to repeat it. Since the pet has already picked up on this, now you need to teach him new words to concentrate on so that they will be of interest to him to repeat. Give him attention and a treat when he repeats good words, and ignore and cover him when he uses bad words!

Sometimes an old-

Brings us a thought of you;
Sometimes a flower as we pass along.

All of these things, make us think of you.
